NUDE WOMAN'S KILLER PASSES THROUGH CITY

Shackled to two detectives speeding him back to New Jersey to answer for the slaying of the woman whose body he spirited through Washington last week, William M. Frazer spent a few minutes here shortly after 3:30 o'clock this morning aboard a train en route from Raleigh, N. C., to his home in Rahway.

Developments came thick and fast throughout yesterday in the sordid case of Mrs. Phoebe Stader, the 32-year-old Rahway hairdresser, whose nude and mutilated body was found by a Negro laborer last Saturday afternoon a short distance off the Washington-Richmond highway, near Fredericksburg.

Fast on the heels of his arrest the previous day in Raleigh, Frazer yesterday, under questioning, made a startling confession that he had killed Mrs. Stader—accidentally he claimed—on the night of February 17 "somewhere below Seffrin," in New Jersey, while they were running away to Florida from their own mates to consummate their illicit intimacy.

Claims Killing Accidental.

The shooting occurred when the "gun went off accidentally, somehow," Frazer explained.

Simultaneously, an autopsy over the body yesterday at Rahway attributed death to a .32-caliber bullet in the back of Mrs. Stader's head.

Gripped with fear over the death of the woman he claimed he loved, Frazer placed the body in his automobile and headed South. One night, presumably Wednesday night of last week, he parked his machine on a Washington street and slept a short while before continuing his strange journey. He said he did not know the name of the street.

In two hours of grilling in Raleigh, the 31-year-old prisoner unfolded a love drama involving his own liaison with Mrs. Stader, their liquor parties and intimacies, and their final decision to seek happiness together far from her own husband and his wife, both familiar with their tryats.

Went to Road Houses.

"I met Mrs. Stader on Monday, not last Monday, but ten days ago. I took her and her sister June up to Walden. I took Phoebe (Mrs. Stader) out Monday night to a couple of road houses. I got some liquor. I remember where I got it, all right. I drank a good share of it, but she did not drink as much as I did.

"Tuesday I had a date to meet her at 1 o'clock. We went to Newburg, to a Chinese restaurant on the main street and had something to eat. We had a quart of liquor and we

Calvin Coolidge Says:

The coming season will test the ability and the disposition of agriculture to cooperate with the Farm Board. As a temporary expedient the board stepped in, under the law, which seemed to justify it, and supported the price of wheat and cotton produced last year. Probably it prevented a real panic in wheat. But members of the board have constantly made it plain that they do not propose to continue a policy which is dangerous and unsound and, in the end, bound to fail.

Beginning months ago, both the Secretary of Agriculture and the board gave constant warning that the sound solution of the surplus problem lay with the farmers themselves. Unless they solve it, no one can provide a permanent solution for them.

The results of Government action have emphasized that the only way to deal effectively and permanently with a surplus under present world conditions is to reduce acreage. The planting time is beginning. The farmer will have to decide whether he wants ten acres of production, costing at the rate of $10 and selling at the rate of $15, or whether he wants twenty acres, costing $30 and selling for $18. No government can make an oversupply profitable.

SMITH MAY CONDUCT OWN FIGHT FOR POST

Justice Department's Part in Power Battle Is "Friend of Court."

(Associated Press.)

Indication that Chairman Smith, of the Power Commission, may have to conduct his own court contest against the Senate without direct aid from the Justice Department came yesterday from Attorney General Mitchell.

Discussing the legal controversy between the Senate and President Hoover over reconsideration of Mr. Smith's nomination, Attorney General Mitchell said it was probable the department would appear in the case only as "a friend of the court." He added, he believed Mr. Smith should choose his own counsel.

Asked if this meant the Justice Department would bear part of the cost of employing the attorney Smith might select to oppose return of his nomination to the Senate, the Attorney General replied emphatically "no."

Mitchell's position was made clear in explaining a letter he wrote John W. Davis, former Democratic presidential candidate, who has been retained by the Senate as its chief counsel. Mr. Davis had written saying he understood the Justice Department would take the opposite side.

"Mr. Smith is entitled to have counsel of his own," Attorney General Mitchell replied, "but I am not yet advised that he has chosen any one. I am inclined to think he should have counsel to appear for him and that those of us in the Department of Justice who may want to support the Chief Executive's action will appear as friends of the court."

The Attorney General explained that by this method those appearing from the department would be able to file arguments upon the legal points involved, without directly opposing the Senate in court. He told Mr. Davis, however, that "no one in the Department of Justice will support" the Senate.

The case is an unusual one, involving a point, officials say, has never before been raised, namely, whether the Senate may call back for reconsideration the nomination of an official already sworn into office. Attorney General Mitchell has already submitted an opinion, upholding the refusal of President Hoover to return the nomination to the Senate.

Alexander Groesbeeck, former Governor of Michigan, was named yesterday to assist Davis. Both are expected here early next month.

LIQUORS SEIZED AS POLICE RAID CLUBS OF ELITE

Law-and-Order Forays in Philadelphia Felt by Leading Men.

QUANTITY OF CHOICE WINES CONFISCATED

Lockers of Members Opened and Intoxicants Taken; One Arrest Made.

Philadelphia, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Police raided the old, exclusive, blue stocking Philadelphia Club this afternoon and reported they had obtained 200 bottles of liquor. Early today the wealthy Manufacturers Club was similarly raided and 255 bottles of choice wines and other liquor were confiscated.

The Philadelphia Club, organized in 1833, has had on its roster the names of many of the best families of Philadelphia and vicinity. Membership has always been difficult to obtain. The clubhouse, which for more than a generation has occupied an old-fashioned building, stands at Thirteenth and Walnut streets, one square from the Manufacturers Club at Broad and Walnut streets.

Lemuel B. Schofield, director of public safety, who led the raid on the Manufacturers Club, denied all knowledge of the Philadelphia Club search until he sent a detective to the place to investigate.

Raided on Clean-Up Orders.

The Philadelphia Club raid was made by policemen from one of the Central City Police Stations on general orders of the director last week to clean up the city, and according to Director Schofield, the raid had not been specifically ordered by him.

James Taylor, assistant superintendent of police, said much of the 200 bottles of liquor seized in the Philadelphia Club was apparently imported. Most of it was found in lockers and some in other parts of the clubhouse.

The raid was led by Detective Bronislaw Wieleba and was quietly conducted. Detective Wieleba has been in the service only a short time. He conducted an investigation during the last 20 days after he said he had seen liquor being delivered at the club twice a day.

Resigns From Club.

Prior to the Philadelphia club raid Director Schofield threatened to arrest certain members of the Manufacturers Club, which lists prominent and influential Philadelphians on its membership roll. Immediately after the Manufacturers Club raid Director Schofield wrote his resignation as a member of the organization.

One man, August Boili, manager of the Manufacturers Club, was arrested at the time of the raid and was held in $1,000 bail for a further hearing two weeks hence.

The raid was made on several rooms on the fifth floor which, club officials said, were occupied by the "Fifty Club," an organization of members within the club.

Director Schofield said that after considerable maneuvering he and his police assistants obtained a key to room 508 and entered. There were seven or eight tables in the room and in one corner a small bar.

Liquor Found in Lockers.

"A small room adjoining this had evidently been used in the past as a bathroom," said the director. "On shelves above this platform were cocktail shakers, ice scoops and other utensils evidently used in mixing drinks. Nearby there was a closet and in this was a refrigerator and five champagne coolers."

In an adjoining room were 100 steel lockers. "We opened the lockers," Director Schofield said, "and took

WORLD STAFF TRIES TO PRESERVE PAPER

Personnel's Efforts Spurred by Offers of Help From Comrade Writers.

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Spurred by offers of help from newspaper comrades all over the United States and in Europe, the men and women of the New York World strove desperately today to preserve the paper of Joseph Pulitzer.

The 2,807 employes of the morning, evening and Sunday World battled against time and a surrogate's impending decision to get into shape a money offer for the paper which would avert its acquisition by the Scripps-Howard interests and its merging with the New York Evening Telegram.

They worked largely in the dark and without legal status. It was not certain whether Surrogate James A. Foley would construe the will of the late Mr. Pulitzer to permit the sale of the World newspapers. He was preparing his opinion today on the request of Herbert, Joseph, jr., and Ralph Pulitzer for permission to dispose of the papers, which they said had been losing money for five years and could not be continued for more than three months.

Even if Surrogate Foley ruled the World could be sold, its employes would have no standing in court as opponents of its sale and merger with the Telegram until they themselves had made a specific offer to the Pulitzer sons for its purchase.

VOTE RENAMES LONGWORTH AT G.O.P. CAUCUS

15 MEMBERS REFUSE TO ATTEND MEETING

Independent Group Unwilling to Be Bound; Oil Stand Influences Several.

(Associated Press.)

The House Republican caucus last night renominated Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, for speaker during the next session.

Mr. Longworth already has served six years. There was no opposition to his renomination at the caucus, which was held behind closed doors with a number of Republicans absent.

It will not be determined until the House organizes next session whether Longworth or a Democratic nominee, possibly Representative Garner, of Texas, will be named. The Republicans will have 218 seats, the Democrats 216 and the Farmer-Laborites 1 in the next Congress.

Vote Was Unanimous.

The vote for speaker Longworth was unanimous. John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, was renominated as Republican floor leader.

William Tyler Page was renominated as clerk, Joseph G. Rodgers, sergeant of arms; Bert Kennedy, doorkeeper, and Frank W. Collier, House postmaster. Speaker Longworth announced the entire slate had received unanimous approval.

So far as could be learned, there were fifteen Republicans who did not attend, including Representatives Sparks, Hoch, Hope, Guyer, and Lambertson, of Kansas; Mass, Selvig, and Christgau, of Minnesota; LaGuardia, of New York, and Frear, Peavey, Schneider, Cooper, Kading and Nelson, of Wisconsin.

Dissent Over Oil Tariff.

Representative-elect Boileau and Representatives Schafer and Stafford, of Wisconsin, were present, along with Garber, of Oklahoma.

There were a number of representatives absent because of illness. Representatives-elect McGugin, of Kansas, and Lovette, of Tennessee, also were absent.

A few hours before the caucus, five Kansas regulars joined a group of independents in refusing to attend the party meeting called to select candidates for offices.

They made known their decision after ways and means committee Republicans rejected again a proposal to restrict imports of foreign oil. Previously a number of independents from Northwestern States said they did not desire to be bound by decisions of the caucus and would not attend.

Consideration Held Closed.

Chairman Hawley, presiding officer of the caucus, announced after a meeting of his committee majority that "there will be no further consid-

HOUSE PASSES BONUS BY VOTE OF 328 TO 79 DESPITE HOOVER VETO

Far More Than Necessary Two-Thirds Vote Is Recorded.

SENATE TO CONSIDER ACTION THIS MORNING

Sufficient Assent for Bill to Become Law Is Expected.

$2,000,000 IS GIVEN BUREAU FOR CLERKS

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

With the gusto that it always displays when veteran legislation is up, the House yesterday overrode President Hoover's veto of the veterans loan bill. The vote was 328 to 79, far more than the two-thirds that was necessary.

Late yesterday the Senate agreed to take up the President's veto message at 11 o'clock this morning. The prospect is, therefore, that the Senate will do today what the House did yesterday, and thus give the loan bill the status of a law.

The House acted within an hour after it had received President Hoover's veto message, a message in which the Executive warned that the bill was "unwise from the standpoint of the veterans themselves, and unwise from the standpoint of the welfare of all the people."

$2,000,000 Voted Bureau.

So certain did it seem that the loan bill would become a law in spite of the President's objections that the Senate voted to give the Veterans' Bureau $2,000,000 to hire additional clerks and otherwise prepare for the rush of borrowers.

The money was provided for in an amendment to the second deficiency bill.

Meanwhile Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills notified Senator Vandenberg (Republican) of Michigan, that the Treasury Department was ready to raise $400,000,000 immediately in order to meet the demand for loans.

In his veto message President Hoover told Congress that if as many veterans apply for loans as are expected to apply for them $1,000,000,000 must be raised by the Treasury.

Cites Treasury's Funds.

"There not being a penny in the Treasury to meet such a demand," the President said, "the Government must borrow this sum through the sale of the reserve fund securities, together with further issues, or we must need impose further taxation."

The loan bill, which allows veterans to borrow 50 per cent of the ultimate value of their World War bonus certificates, was passed by the House on February 16 by a vote of 363 to 39. Thus the vote of yesterday to override the President's veto—328 to 79—shows that 40 Republicans who had voted for the bill originally decided yesterday to uphold the President's objections.

More Than Supported Coolidge.

The number of House members who voted to sustain President Hoover's veto yesterday was five more than the number that voted to uphold former President Coolidge's veto of the original bonus act in 1924.

Before the vote was taken yesterday Majority Leader Tilson offered a substitute bill which would have limited the loans to those veterans who really have need of them. This proposal was greeted with cries of "Sit down!" And that was what Tilson was forced to do.

When the veto message was read in the House, men and women in the galleries broke into applause. Speaker Longworth warned them to keep quiet and then recognized Mr. Tilson so that he could offer the substitute. It was evident, however, that the mem-

Text of President's Veto Of Veterans' Loan Bill

The text of the President's veto of the veterans' loan measure follows:

To the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, H. R. 17054, "An act to increase the loan basis of adjusted service certificates."

In order that it may be clearly understood, I may review that the adjusted compensation act (bonus bill) passed on May 19, 1924, awarded to 2,498,000 veterans approximately $1,365,000,000 further compensation for war service. To this sum was added 25 per cent, said to be consideration for deferring the payment until about 1945, the whole bearing 4 per cent compound interest. Immediate payment to dependents upon death was included, thus creating an endowment insurance policy represented by a certificate to each veteran showing the sum payable at the end of the period—the "face value." The total "face value" of the outstanding certificates today, after paying the sums due of less than $50 and payments in full to dependents, is $3,426,000,000, held by 3,397,000 veterans, or an average of about $1,000 each.

The burden upon the country was to be an amount each year sufficient as a yearly premium to provide for the payment of the "face value" of these certificates in about 1945, and to date has involved an appropriation averaging $112,000,000 per annum. The accumulation of these appropriations is represented by Government obligations deposited in a reserve fund, which fund now amounts to about $750,000,000. A loan basis to certificate holders was established equal to 90 per cent of the reserve value of the certificates, such loans now in the sixth year being authorized to 22½ per cent of the "face value."

When the bonus act was passed it was upon the explicit understanding of the Congress that the matter was closed and the Government would not be called upon to make subsequent enlargements. It is now proposed to

9 BILLS MAY AFFECT NEIGHBORING AREAS

Taxes, Roads and Fireworks Included in Maryland County Measures.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 26.—The major program of proposed legislation affecting Maryland's border counties to the National Capital, Prince Georges and Montgomery was virtually completed today when a group of nine bills entered the channels of the Senate and House of Delegates.

Senator Robert G. Hilton sponsored six of the measures which, briefly summarized, are as follows: Abolishing the special taxing area of the town of Alta Vista, modifying the manner in which taxes are levied for road repairs, stringent regulations governing the manufacture and use of fireworks in the Bethesda District, reduction of the period of giving notice for the removal of obstacles and exempting Montgomery County from the provisions of the State-wide statute which requires written consent from property owners for opening public roads and extending the area of the Bethesda Fire Department district.

The long anticipated bill calling for a State bond issue of $750,000 for the construction of 16 miles of highway between Lanham and Severn was presented in the House by the Prince Georges County delegation. Another Prince Georges bill calls for a constitutional amendment to provide for an additional judge for the Seventh Judicial Circuit, and a third provides for a new charter for the village of Colmar Manor.

The Severn-Lanham road measure which has been the subject of much discussion for several months is in fulfillment of one of the preelection promises of Democrats of the county. The proposed bonds would bear interest at 4½ per cent. The route of the proposed road would pass through Beale, Glenn Dale and several other communities. It is pointed out that it will offer a third outlet to traffic between Washington and Baltimore.

The Montgomery bill to alter the manner of levying for road repairs would wipe out existing law which fixes a rate of $25 per mile for re-

REBELLION IN PERU SWEEPING COUNTRY

Two Infantry Companies in Extreme North Join Those in South.

Lima, Peru, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The Peruvian revolt against the military junta governing the country now is distressing the government at each end of the republic.

Today it became known that two infantry companies at Piura, which is in an oil region in the extreme north, had revolted against the provisional presidency of Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, who himself gained office by a revolution last August.

The Piura troops rebelled Tuesday under the leadership of Col. Manuel Valde Iglesias while the divisional commander, Col. Bulogio Castillo, was at nearby Talara in connection with oil field strike disorders.

Hence with the spread of armed revolt to the north and the south of the capital, the Lima government has dispatched troops in both directions to suppress the rebellions. Official statements have said that a loyal cavalry regiment from Tacna is approaching Arequipa, the southern point which has been held since Friday by revolting soldiers, while a fighting division mobilized at Lima to move southward. The government also claims the adjacent departments of Moquegua and Apurinac are loyal and loyal forces hold the Port of Mollendo, key to Arequipa's sea trade.

Government forces were started northward yesterday to crush the Piura insurrection, although its existence was not made known at that time.

The government announced tonight that a newspaper censorship would be established and kept in force while the country is in a state of siege.

A government bulletin said tonight that three revolutionists in northern Peru had forced Elmer Faucett, an American aviator, to fly them from Piura to Paita last night but were captured by loyal forces at the latter city. Piura is in rebel hands and the revolutionaries, Capt. Jaramillo and two corporals, seized a plane of the Faucett commercial airlines, forcing the proprietor to pilot them.

Snowden's Deflation Plan Arouses Labor

Majority of Government's Supporters Appears Opposed; Program Seeking Moratorium on War Debts Develops Strength.

London, Feb. 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Revolt against Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden's policy of deflation and drastic economy has reached such a pitch in the ranks of the Labor party that the New York World News Service is assured a majority of the government's supporters in the House of Commons are against him. Pressure for a radical financial policy within the Labor party promises sensational developments, it was shown at an informal meeting of the party last night.

Labor leaders from the Right and Center, as well as the Left, are pressing for a government declaration in favor of a moratorium on all international war debts and reparations. A memorandum to this effect is being prepared by Labor members of the Center and Left, to be signed by Lord Arnold, paymaster general, who is a confidant of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald. There is some prospect that at a party meeting planned to discuss this, it may be carried and the government may be forced to act accordingly or face a revolt that might force Snowden to resign.

The government's position was further weakened today in committee by the Liberals killing a relevant clause of the trades union disputes bill, which imperils the Liberal-Labor understanding.

What a group of Labor M. P.'s, apparently a majority in the party, desires of Mr. Snowden is a measure of inflation rather than deflation and, in the matter of the war debts, not repudiation of the American debt but a formal proposal for a moratorium on all war debts. Since Great Britain receives 7,000,000 pounds ($34,020,000) more yearly from her former enemies and allies than she pays to the United States, it is pointed out that she can make this move disinterestedly. It would have the support of Germany and incur the possible hostility of the United States. Italy might be in agreement with it, but France's position would undoubtedly be in opposition.

Labor supporters of this scheme urge that the creditor countries are driving the debtors into bankruptcy, and that the present false recovery in certain countries, analagous to that of last spring, is only making a general smash inevitable later this year still more certain.

Cessation of debt payments, they claim, would give a great fillip to world trade, send up commodity prices and lay the basis for real world recovery. Otherwise, German bankruptcy and most serious trouble here is foreseen.

Against these tactics, orthodox politicians and bankers will claim that Great Britain must tighten her belt, pay her debts and continue to deflate. But behind Snowden's foes

Prince George Surpasses Wales With Chilean Girls

Heir at 37 Loses Smiles of Younger Generation, While Brother Monopolizes Spotlight at Dances and Is Mentioned for Republic's Honors.

Vina Del Mar, Chile, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Now that the Prince of Wales is an old gentleman of nearly 37, a new feminine generation in South America is turning the spotlight of its admiration on his younger brother, George, and the pupil is outstripping the master.

Here in Chile the senoritas who attended dances for the royal brothers flash their most enticing smiles on "that dear, tall, blonde prince," and only those more mature ladies who met the heir when he was here before cling to the memory of him as the soul of romance.

All this attention used to embarrass the younger prince, but when the beauty of Chile surges about him these nights he seems to be enjoying himself, and the blush of shyness which formerly came occasionally is not so frequent.

Men like George, too, and there is not a little sentiment in favor of an informal suggestion that he be regarded as Chile's adopted son, a relationship hitherto reserved for his brother.

Recently George had danced frequently with Miss Anne Chilton, daughter of the British Ambassador, but he has shown interest also in several Chilean girls, and the gossips are divided in opinion as to who has received his greatest attention.

The Prince of Wales got down to business today, meeting with outstanding business men during the afternoon and evening to urge greater

230 Killed as Hurricane Sweeps Over Fiji Islands

Winds and Floods Wreck Districts of Signatoka, Ba and Lautoka.

Suva, Fiji, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Two hundred and thirty persons were killed Saturday in the worst hurricane ever experienced in the Fiji Islands. Most of the victims were Fijians and East Indians. One European was electrocuted.

Heavy floods devastated the districts of Signatoka, Ba and Lautoka, cutting off all communication until today. One hundred died in Signatoka, 80 in Ba and 50 in Lautoka. More were expected to die of exposure and cold before help arrived.

A train on the Ba-Lautoka Railway was blown off the tracks, killing one person and injuring many.

hers were in no mood to vote for such a measure.

"You would have every veteran prove himself a pauper before helping him," Representative Connery (Democrat), of Massachusetts, shouted at Mr. Tilson.

Mr. Tilson denied this, saying that the administration was not only willing but anxious to help the needy veterans.

It was at this point that the cries of "Vote!" and "Sit down!" arose.

Speaker Longworth, himself an advocate of the loan bill, banged his gavel and put the question that most of the members were waiting for.

"The question is," Mr. Longworth said, "whether the House shall sustain the President's veto or whether the House shall pass the bill the President's objection notwithstanding."

Then came the roll call and the overwhelming vote to override the veto. Of the 328 who voted to override, 179 were Republicans, 148 Democrats, and one a Farmer-Laborite. Not a single Democrat voted to sustain the veto.

Of Vigorous Language.

The President's veto message, a document of vigorous language, was dispatched to the Capitol shortly after 2 o'clock. Two hours later William Tyler Page, clerk of the House, notified the Senate of what the House had done and laid the veto message before it.

Later in the day Senator Johnson (Republican), of California, moved to have the message placed on the record, and this was followed by an agreement to consider the question at 11 o'clock this morning.

The Senate passed the loan bill a week ago yesterday by a vote of 72 to 12, and champions of the measure are confident that the line-up today will not be very much different.

Cites Needy Veterans.

In his veto message, President Hoover admitted that there are veterans who are unemployed and in need today, in common with many other Americans. Inquiry shows, he said, that these needy are being taken care of by welfare committees throughout the country.

But the same inquiry, he said, shows that the number of veterans who are in need represents but a minor percentage of the whole.

"The popular assumption has been," the President said, "that as the certificates average $1,000, then each veteran can obtain $500 by way of a loan. But this is only an average, and more than one-half will receive less than this amount. In fact, over 800,000 men will be able to borrow less than $200, and of these over 200,000 will be able to borrow only an average of $75.

"Furthermore, there are 100,000 veterans whose certificates have been issued recently, who, under the proposed law, will have no loan privilege until their certificates are 2 years old."

Fear Is Expressed.

The President expressed the fear that the loan bill will lead welfare committees to believe that the needy veterans who are just now applying for their certificates will be able to get loans immediately. In this case, he said, the veterans will be threatened with greater hardships than ever.

The breach of fundamental principle in the loan bill, the President said, is the requirement that the Federal Government provide an enormous sum of money to a vast majority who are able to care for themselves and who are caring for themselves. And among those who would receive the proposed benefits, he said, were 387,000 veterans and 400,000 dependents who already are receiving some degree of allowance from the Federal Government.

In addition, the President said, the bill would make loans available to scores of thousands of others who are in the income-paying class.

Denies Business Stimulant.

In denying the contention that the distribution of hundreds of millions of dollars in loans would stimulate business generally, the President said:

"We can not further the restoration of prosperity by borrowing from some of our people, pledging the credit of all of the people, to loan to some of our people who are in need of money."

If the argument of those who say that the loan bill will stimuate prosperity is sound, the President said, the Government should make loans to the whole people.

"I regard the bill under consideration as, unwise from the standpoint of the veterans themselves, and from the standpoint of the welfare of all the people," the President said. "The future of our World War veterans is inseperably bound up with the future of the whole people. The greatest service that we can render both veterans and the public generally is to administer the affairs of our Government with a view to the well-being and happiness of all of the Nation."

Eligibles in List to Get Extra Jobs With Bureau

With hundreds of men and women seeking the extra jobs that will be created as the result of passage of the bonus loan bill, Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, announced yesterday that only those on the civil service eligible list will be selected.

Gen. Hines explained that there is no authority for the employment of persons not on the civil service register. The Civil Service Commission has informed him that there is now a long waiting list.

Inland Waterways Hearing Is Held

New York Securities Group Studies Both Sides of Problem.

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—A vigorous defense of the Government's program for inland waterways development, together with charges that it represented "futile and unfair competition of Government-subsidized transportation with carriers by rail," were heard tonight by the New York group of the National Security Owners Association.

Seeking information as to the effect, if any, the inland waterways development may have on railroad securities, the association heard what was tantamount to a debate through the address of Maj. Gen. L. Q. Ashburn, chairman of the Inland Waterways Corporation, and D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Mr. Robertson said organized railway labor did not believe the appropriation of Government funds in the interest of waterway transportation was justified under existing conditions, but in event their views were overridden, contended that waterways should complement the railroad as constituting the main artery of American commerce.

SMITH'S EARLY VISIT HERE ADDS INTEREST

Discussion of Democrats' Meeting Next Week Is Filled With Rumors.

(Associated Press.)

Prospects of any early visit to the Capital by Alfred E. Smith, Democracy's 1928 presidential candidate, added interest yesterday to the preliminary discussions of the Democratic national committee meeting here March 5.

Before coming here, Smith will visit with Chairman Raskob, of the committee, at his home at Wilmington, Del., and will visit the North Carolina General Assembly.

Raskob was here yesterday but apparently he engaged in no official conferences before leaving the city. Democratic leaders in Congress, both wets and drys, are anxious to insist to the chairman that he sanction no attempt to commit the national committee on the prohibition or any other issue at the March 5 gathering.

There were persistent reports that a resolution is in preparation declaring it to be the sense of the national committee that the prohibition issue is one for the States rather than the Federal Government.

The principal purpose of the March 5 meeting is to adopt a plan for wiping out the $500,000 debt incurred in Smith's 1928 campaign. He has always interested himself in that problem of the party.

Confidence was expressed in Democratic congressional circles that any attempt to commit the national committee on party issues would be sidetracked as out of order or defeated.

However, considerable interest attached to conferences Raskob is expected to have with the leaders of the party from all sections of the country prior to the party pow wow.

One Maine Survivor Fails to Get Pension

(Associated Press.)

One of the fifteen survivors of the battleship Maine disaster has failed to qualify for a Spanish War pension.

A bill to confer a pension on 74-year-old John Heffron, of Brooklyn, passed by the Senate, was blocked in the House when it was shown Heffron served only 53 days. Ninety days war service are required by law for pension rights.

Moses Hit as Senate Chairman by Senators

(Associated Press.)

Sparks flew in the Senate yesterday as two Democratic senators protested their rights were invaded by the failure of President Pro Tempore Moses to recognize them.

Moses left the presiding officer's chair to answer the attacks on his manner of conducting the Senate by Senators Copeland, of New York, and Dill, of Washington.

The senators said they had lost opportunities to speak on amendments to the second deficiency appropriation bill by Moses' failure to recognize them. Moses replied he had not seen them.

Dill said Moses "makes so much noise in the chair he can't hear anybody else."

"That is sometimes an advantage to legislation," Moses replied.

"Has it come to the point where we have got to have a siren to attract the attention of the chair?" Copeland asked.

Copeland said the consideration he had received was "improper treatment to senators."

LAME DUCK REMEDY MEETS DEADLOCK

Norris Calls New Conference to Unite Both Houses on Amendment.

(Associated Press.)

Formation of a constitutional amendment fixing new meeting times for Congress was blocked yesterday when conferees became deadlocked over the House provision fixing a limit for one session.

With only a few working days left in which to iron out the disagreement, Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, called another meeting of the conferees for today in an effort to bring together the Senate and House on an amendment to be submitted to the States.

The stumbling block is the provision put in the proposed constitutional amendment by the House at the insistence of Speaker Longworth providing that the second session of a Congress, as now, has a definite day for termination.

Both the Senate and House agreed to do away with the existing order whereby an old Congress meets after the election of a new Congress * * *. The Senate would have Congress meet annually on January 2. The House proposed annual meetings on January 4. The Longworth amendment fixed May 4 for the end of the second session.

"We will have no trouble getting together on everything except the Longworth amendment," said Norris after yesterday's first meeting of the conferees, "but on that we are deadlocked."

With a two-thirds majority required for adoption of the amendment by both the Senate and House, it was considered essential that the Longworth provision or some substitute for it be written into the resolution if the proposal was to pass the House.

Senate Would Give U. S. Wives of Aliens Vote

(Associated Press.)

A bill to repeal the existing law by which a woman ceases to be an American citizen when she marries an alien ineligible to citizenship was passed by the Senate last night.

The measure, which goes back to the House for action on minor amendments also would permit Americans who have lost citizenship to regain it without fulfilling the five-year residence requirement in this country.

Thompson's Wife Denies Suit Plan

Mate of Representative Knows Nothing of Reconciliation.

Assertions of Representative Charles J. Thompson, of Defiance, Ohio, that divorce proceedings with his wife "probably will be dropped," according to an Associated Press dispatch from Defiance, were met with the comment of Mrs. Thompson here last night that she knew nothing of any plans for a reconciliation.

Mrs. Thompson, who has continued to maintain her home here at the Tilden Gardens, denied the statement alleged to have been made by Representative Thompson that he had been summoned here by her for a conference. The dispatch said that he left Defiance yesterday for Washington.

Mrs. Thompson filed divorce action January 22 in this city, charging cruelty. Representative Thompson, then in Florida, came here and filed a counter suit, alleging cruelty and charging Mrs. Thompson had attempted to influence him to disinherit children by a former marriage. In the same dispatch he was quoted as saying he was confident both petitions would be withdrawn.

SECOND DEFICIENCY BILL PASSES SENATE

More Than $100,000,000 Is Carried in Emergency Needs Measure.

The Senate yesterday passed the second deficiency appropriation bill, carrying more than $100,000,000, after adding many millions to the total of the bill as passed by the House, among the Senate additions being several items of especial interest to Washington.

One of these provided $2,700,000 for completion of the George Washington Memorial boulevard along the river from Washington to Mount Vernon.

Others included $100,000 to be paid out of the District revenues for the expenses of the District Washington Bicentennial Commission; $34,300 to provide for the expenses of the new traffic department under the new traffic law for the District.

Although not of especial monetary importance to Government employes in the District, another item which was watched with considerable interest by Government employes provided $480,000 for the aid of Government clerks in foreign countries to aid in their extra expense for housing and similar needs incident to their foreign employment.

The Bureau of Standards was given $147,000 for the construction necessary and other expenses incident to the conduct of radio experiments.

Senator Robinson (Republican), of Indiana, had the bill amended yesterday to provide $2,500 for flowers with which to decorate the graves of the soldier dead of the Nation resting in Arlington Cemetery.

The money is to be expended under the direction of the Grand Army of the Republic Memorial Day Corporation and will be used for flowers put on the graves of the dead soldiers on Memorial Day. A similar allowance has been made for the last few years, but almost was lost this year because of the confidence of those in charge until Paul J. McGahan, former commander of the District Department of the American Legion discovered that all but one appropriation bill had been enacted without the usual fund, and called the oversight to the attention of senators yesterday, with the result that the appropriation was inserted in the deficiency bill at the last minute.

Senator Thomas J. Heflin (Democrat), Alabama, sought to have the bill amended so as to provide that appointments to civil service posts in the Government should be made in conformity with State proportionments. Mr. Heflin criticized what he said was the existing disproportionate representation of the District, Maryland and Virginia and other nearby States among Government employes. His amendment would have prohibited appointment of any person to the Government service until discrepancies had been removed.

The Heflin amendment got short shrift, Senator Wesley Jones (Republican), Washington, in charge of the bill, making a point of order, which was sustained.

This was the last of the eleven big annual supply bills to come before the short session, and now goes to conference with the House.

Items added to the bill by the Senate appropriations committee were approved by the Senate, including $10,000,000 to start construction of the Cove Creek Dam in Tennessee, part of the Muscle Shoals project, and $10,000,000 toward modernizing the battle ships New Mexicon, Mississippi and Idaho.

Amendments added on the floor included $5,000,000 for new veterans' hospital construction; $2,000,000 for expenses incident to administration of the proposed veterans' loans; $1,500,000 to carry out the provisions of the yet unsigned Wagner bill establishing a National-State system of employment agencies, and $1,000,000 toward the recently enacted Federal aid maternity bill.

Another amendment added was for $5,000,000 to carry out the Oddie-Colton bill authorizing road construction on unreserved public lands in Indian reservations of the West.

School Superintendents Back Dry Amendment

Detroit, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—School superintendents pronounced themselves dry today with cheers for a resolution approving the eighteenth amendment and efforts to shout down the only one of their number who raised his voice against it.

The controversy flared up a few minutes in the final day's session of the sixty-first annual convention of the department of superintendence of the National Education Association, furnishing the only fireworks of its four-day session. It was quickly disposed of after Dr. Daniel J. Kealey, of Hoboken, N. J., had spoken against the dry resolution.

Three Dry Leaders Confer With Hoover

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday held a 30-minute conference with three dry leaders. They were Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, of the Antisaloon League; the Rev. E. C. Dinwidde, member of the executive committee of the World League Against Alcohol, and the Rev. John Barton, a leader of the prohibition movement in the Southern Baptist Church.

Later the dry leaders said they had called to pay their respects.

President Signs Bill For Naval Buildings

President Hoover yesterday signed a bill authorizing an expenditure of $3,200,000 for new buildings at the Naval Hospital here. Of this sum, $100,000 shall be charged to the Naval Hospital fund.

The legislation was enacted after a congressional committee visited the Naval Hospital and reported that many of the buildings there constituted fire traps.

State Road Work Gives 161,040 Jobs

(Associated Press.)

State road work instituted during January was estimated by the President's emergency committee for employment yesterday to have provided jobs for 161,040 persons.

This was said to represent a total "much above the normal amount of employment of this class during January of previous years," and to register the results of the drive against unemployment. A further gain this month was expected by W. C. Markham, secretary of the American Association of State Highway officials.

He told the committee the emergency $80,000,000 Federal appropriation has aided materially in advancing road-building programs.

COUZENS DENOUNCES CONSOLIDATION PLAN

(Associated Press.)

The proposed consolidation of Eastern railroads was sharply criticized yesterday by Senator Couzens (Republican), Michigan.

At the same time, House committee action made legislation affecting railroad holding companies impossible at this session.

The interstate commerce committee postponed indefinitely action on the Parker bill, introduced at the request of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to give it authority over the holding companies.

The measure was introduced by Chairman Parker, of the committee, after it had made a study of the holding company situation.

Commission Sought Control.

Another Parker measure, to authorize a committee investigation of all holding companies in the public utilities field, came before the rules committee, but action was deferred indicating that it also was dead, so far as the present session is concerned.

The commission had urged Congress to give it control over railroad holding companies, on the ground that it now was powerless to regulate consolidations.

Senator Couzens, chairman of the Senate interstate commerce committee, said it was time to "call a halt" on railroad mergers or the Nation's transportation facilities would be in the hands of a few people. The proposed Eastern mergers, he said, involved consolidations the commission had refused to sanction.

No Legislation Sought.

Some of these, he continued, have been effected already through holdings companies and now the interests controlling them come to the Interstate Commerce Commission and say:

"We have accomplished our unifications without your approval. You denied our applications once, but now that we have done what you said we could not do, we want your approval and it is necessary for the salvation of the railroads of the country that you should give your approval."

Senator Couzens has abandoned hope for legislation to prevent the consolidations at this session, as he has been assured there will not be time to effect the mergers before Congress meets in December.

U. S. Nominee Hits Charge of Schall

Nordbye Asserts Senator's "Rat-Farm" Accusation Is Ridiculous.

Minneapolis, Feb. 26, (A.P.).—District Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye, whose nomination to be Federal judge for Minnesota is under fire, today characterized as "ridiculous" the charge of Senator Thomas D. Schall that he had diverted a grand jury investigation that might have led to the governor's office.

Senator Schall termed the investigation the "rat farm scandal." It was believed he referred to the grand jury probe a year ago into the sale of securities in muskrat fur farms which brought indictments against officers and salesmen of the Ten Thousand Lakes Fur Farms, Inc., for violation of the State's blue sky laws against the sale of unregistered securities.

"I do not know exactly to what the senator refers," Judge Nordbye said, "but the charge is without any foundation or color of foundation whatsoever. It is so silly I do not think it should be dignified by comment."

Dry Agent Suspended On Shooting Charges

(Associated Press.)

Prohibition Director Woodcock yesterday suspended W. A. Long, Federal undercover agent at San Francisco, pending investigation of a charge he shot the operator of a soft drink parlor in the back.

The prohibition bureau received a preliminary report on the shooting and immediately wired the order to Prohibition Administrator W. G. Waxter at San Francisco.

SENATE INDIAN BODY REBUKED BY WILBUR

Secretary Meets Barrage of Criticisms in Plea for $100,000 Bill.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Wilbur told the Senate Indian committee yesterday it ought to be devoting itself to finding a way out of the "legislative maze" of existing statutes concerning the red-skinned wards of the Government instead of "picking flaws" in the Indian Bureau.

The Interior Department head made this statement in no uncertain terms after running into a barrage of criticisms of his Indian policy when he appeared to urge enactment of a House bill authorizing a $100,000 study and revision of laws relating to the Indians.

Several senators, including Wheeler (Democrat), Montana; Pine (Republican), Oklahoma, and Chairman Frazier (Republican), North Dakota, argued against the measure on the ground no further investigations were needed.

Wilbur and Indian Commissioner Rhoads made vigorous reply to all criticisms. The Secretary said law revision was only a part of what was needed, that the Navajos in New Mexico are outgrowing their reservation and that this and other problems could be considered under the bill in question.

It was agreed Wilbur should submit today an estimate showing how the $100,000 would be spent.

House Accepts Report On Clarke Memorial

(Associated Press.)

The House yesterday accepted the conference report to increase from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 the Government's contribution to the George Rogers Clarke Memorial at Vincennes, Ind. This completes congressional action. The measure now goes to the President.

The report, reconciling differences with the Senate, provides that $300,000 be made available immediately, while $200,000 may be had later.

Senate Body Approves Postal Buildings Bill

(Associated Press.)

The House bill authorizing $45,000,000 for the purchase or construction of postoffice quarters was approved yesterday by the Senate public buildings committee.

The measure is based upon recommendations by Postmaster General Brown, who reported to President Hoover the past leasing policy of the department was uneconomical.

TEXT OF BONUS BILL VETO

enlarge the loan rate to 50 per cent of the "face value," at a low rate of interest, thus imposing a potential cash outlay upon the Government of about $1,700,000,000, if all veterans apply for loans, less about $330,000,000 already loaned. According to the administrator of veterans' affairs the probable number who will avail themselves of the privilege under this bill will require approximately $1,000,000,000. There not being a penny in the Treasury to meet such a demand, the Government must borrow this sum through the sale of the reserve fund securities, together with further issues, or we must needs impose further taxation.

Millions in Distress, Claim.

The sole appeal made for the reopening of the bonus act is the claim that funds from the National Treasury should be provided to veterans in distress as the result of the drought and business depression. There are veterans unemployed and in need today in common with many others of our people. These, like the others, are being provided the basic necessities of life by the devoted committees in those parts of the country affected by the depression or drought. The governments and many employers are giving preference to veterans in employment. Their welfare is and should be a matter of concern to our people. Inquiry indicates that such care is being given throughout the country, and it also indicates that the number of veterans in need of such relief is a minor percentage of the whole.

The utility of this legislation as relief to those in distress is far less than has been disclosed. The popular assumption has been that as the certificates average $1,000, then each veteran can obtain $500 by way of a loan. But this is only an average, and more than one-half will receive less than this amount. In fact, over 800,000 men will be able to borrow less than $200, and of these over 200,000 will be able to borrow only an average of $75. Furthermore, there are 100,000 veterans whose certificates have been issued recently who under the proposed law will have no loan privilege until their certificates are two years old. It is, therefore, urgent in any event that local committees continue relief to veterans, but this legislation would lead such local committees and employers to assume that these veterans have been provided for by the Federal Treasury, and thereby threatens them with greater hardships than before.

Breach of Principle.

The breach of fundamental principle in this proposal is the requirement of the Federal Government to provide an enormous sum of money to a vast majority who are able to care for themselves and who are caring for themselves.

Among those who would receive the proposed benefit are included 387,000 veterans and 400,000 dependents, who are already receiving some degree of allowance or support from the Federal Government. But in addition to these, it provides equal benefits for scores of thousands of others who are in the income tax paying class, and for scores of thousands who are holding secure positions in the Federal, State and local governments and in every profession and industry. I know that most of these men do not seek these privileges, they have no desire to be presented to the American people as benefiting by a burden put upon the whole people, and I have many manifestations from veterans on whom the times are bearing hardly that they do not want to be represented to our people as a group substituting special privilege for the idealism and patriotism they have rejoiced in offering to their country through their service.

Accepted by Nation.

It is suggested as a reason for making these provisions applicable to all veterans, that we should not make public distinction between veterans in need and the others who comprise the vast majority lest we characterize those deserving help as a pauper class. On the contrary, veterans in need are and should be a preferred class, that a grateful country would be proud to honor with its support. Adoption of the principle of aid to the rich or to those able to support themselves in itself sets up a group of special privilege among our citizens.

The principle that the Nation should give generous care to those veterans who are ill, disabled, in need or in distress, even though these disabilities do not arise from the war, has been fully accepted by the Nation. Pensions or allowances have been provided for the dependents of those who lost their lives in the war; allowances have been provided to those who suffered disabilities from the war; additional allowances were passed at the last session of Congress to all the veterans whose earning power at any time may be permanently impaired by injury or illness; free hospitalization is available not only to those suffering from the results of war but to large numbers of temporarily ill. Together with war-risk insurance and the adjusted compensation, these services now total an annual expenditure of approximately $600,000,000 and under existing laws will increase to $800,000,000 per annum in a very few years for World War veterans alone. A total of $5,000,000,000 has been expended upon such services since the war.

Our country has thus shown its sense of obligation and generosity, and its readiness at all times to aid those of its veterans in need. I have the utmost confidence that our service men would be among the first to oppose a policy of Government assistance to veterans who have property and means to support themselves, for service men are as devoted to the welfare of our country in peace as in war and as clearly foresee the future dangers of embarking on such a policy. It could but create resentments which would ultimately react against those who should be given care.

Not Aid to Prosperity.

It is argued that the distribution of the hundreds of millions of dollars proposed by this bill would stimulate business generally. We can not further the restoration of prosperity by borrowing from some of our people, pledging the credit of all the people, to loan to some of our people who are not in need of the money. If the exercise of these rights were limited to expenditure upon necessities only, there would be no stimulation to business. The theory of stimulation is based upon the anticipation of wasteful expenditure. It can be of no assistance in the return of real prosperity.

If this argument of proponents is correct, we should make Government loans to the whole people.

It is represented that this measure merely provides loans against a future obligation and that, therefore, it will cost the American people nothing. That is an incomplete statement. A cost at once arises to the people when, instead of proceeding by annual appropriation, the Government is forced to secure a huge sum by borrowing or otherwise, especially in the circumstances of today when we are compelled in the midst of depression to make other large borrowings to cover deficits and refunding operations. An increased rate of interest which the Government must pay upon on all long-term issues is inevitable.

Additional Burden Proposed.

It imposes an additional burden of interest on the people which will extend through the whole term of such loans. Some cost arises to the people through the tendency to increase the interest rates which every State and municipality must pay in their borrowing for public works and improvements, as well as the rate which industry and business must pay. There is a cost to some one through the retardation of the speed of recovery of employment when Government borrowings divert the savings of the people from their use by constructive industry and commerce. It imposes a great charge upon the individual who loses such increased employment or continues unemployed. To the veteran this is a double loss when he has consumed the value of his certificate and has also lost the opportunity for greater earnings. There is a greater cost than all this: It is a step toward Government aid to those who can help themselves. These direct or indirect burdens fall upon the people as a whole.

Endowments Are Impaired.

The need of our people today is a decrease in the burden of taxes and unemployment, yet they (who include the veterans) are being steadily forced toward higher tax levels and lessened employment by such acts as this. We must not forget the millions of hard-working families in our country who are striving to pay the debts which they have incurred in acquiring homes and farms in endeavor to build protection for their future. They, in the last analysis, must bear the burden of increasing Government aid and taxes. It is not the rich who suffer. When we take employment and taxes from our people it is the poor who suffer.

There is a very serious phase of this matter for the wives and children of veterans and to the future security of veterans themselves. Each of these certificates is an endowment insurance policy. Any moneys advanced against them, together with its interest, will be automatically deducted from the value of the certificates in case of death or upon maturity.

No one will deny that under the pressures of allurements of the moment, many will borrow against these certificates for other than absolutely necessary purposes. The loss to many families means the destruction of the one safeguard at their most critical time. It can not be contended that the interests of the families of our country are conserved by either cashing or borrowing upon their life-insurance policies.

I have no desire to present monetary aspects of the question except so far as they affect the human aspects. Surely it is a human aspect to transfer to the backs of those who toil, including veterans, a burden of those who by position and property can care for themselves. It is a human aspect to incur the danger of continued or increased unemployment. It is a human aspect to deprive women and children of protection by reckless use of an endowment policy. Our country is rich enough to do any justice. No country is rich enough to do an injustice.

Patriotism Is Spiritual.

The patriotism of our people is not a material thing. It is a spiritual thing. We can not pay for it with Government aid. We can honor those in need by our aid. And it is a fundamental aspect of freedom among us that no step should be taken which burdens the Nation with a privileged class who can care for themselves.

I regard the bill under consideration as unwise from the standpoint of the veterans themselves, and unwise from the standpoint of the welfare of all the people. The future of our World War veterans is inseparably bound up with the future of the whole people. The greatest service that we can render both veterans and the public generally is to administer the affairs of our Government with a view to the well-being and happiness of all of the Nation.

The matter under consideration is of grave importance in itself; but of much graver importance is the whole tendency to open the Federal Treasury to a thousand purposes, many admirable in their intentions, but in which the proponents fail or do not care to see that with such beginnings many of them insidiously consume more and more of the savings and the labor of our people. In aggregate they threaten burdens beyond the ability of our country normally to bear, and, of far higher importance, each of them breaks the barriers of self-reliance and self-support in our people. HERBERT HOOVER.

TESTIMONY STILLED BY WOMAN'S KILLING

Victim Had Offered to Tell Details of New York Vice "Frame-Up."

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Death—violent and sudden—today overtook a red-headed woman of 32 who had volunteered to tell what she knew of a "frame-up" by New York police.

Miss Vivian Gordon, once a reformatory inmate, was found dead in Van Cortlandt Park, one delicately-manicured hand clutching a clothesline with which she had been strangled.

Her long, ruddy hair covered her face; her black velvet dress was torn. An expensive pump, encrusted with brilliants, was found some distance from the body and a pair of white kid gloves lay in the mud. Detectives believed she had struggled wildly to save herself.

To Question Patrolman.

"Police Commissioner Mulrooney ordered that Patrolman Andrew O. McLoughlin, who arrested the woman eight years ago on a vice charge, be questioned about the arrest. Mulrooney said McLoughlin had been the partner of a plain clothesman suspended as the result of a vice case now under investigation.

On February 7 a letter was received by Isidor J. Kresel, former investigator of the magistrates court, whose charges of wholesale "framing" of women by the vice squad had cast a pall of scandal over the courts and police.

"I have some information in connection with a frame-up by a police officer and others which I believe will be of great aid to you in your investigation," it read. "I would appreciate an interview at your earliest convenience."

It was signed Vivian Gordon.

Failed to Appear.

She was asked to call last Friday, but failed to appear or to send any word.

The woman had been dead five or six hours when found. The clothesline had been drawn thrice about the throat and was then tied in a knot.

Fingerprint records showed she was committed under the name of Venida Bischoff to Bedford Reformatory in 1923 on a prostitution charge. That was her last contact with police until last August, when she was arrested on an extortion charge. A grand jury failed to indict, and the accusation was dismissed. Detectives who made the arrest refused to discuss it today, but it was believed the charge involved extortion of $1,000 from a man whose name was withheld.

When detectives went to summon Patrolman McLoughlin for questioning it developed he was on a five-day leave of absence. He told his superiors he was going to Havana and would be back Saturday. Two detectives who arrested the woman on the extortion charge also were ordered questioned.

CANADIAN ELECTED BY PRESBYTERIANS

Dr. W. M. Rochester Named Head of Western Section at Conference.

With the election yesterday morning of Dr. William M. Rochester, of Toronto, Canada, as president, the Western Section Reformed and Presbyterian Churches Conference, which has been in session at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, was brought to a close. The conference started Tuesday.

Other officers elected for a yearly term, were: Dr. David M. Sweets, of Nashville, Tenn., vice president; Dr. Henry B. Masters, of Philadelphia, Pa., secretary, and Philip Howard, also of Philadelphia, treasurer. No decision as to a meeting place for next year's conference was reached, although the matter was referred to the executive committee.

A report of the committee on work on the continent of Europe was made by the Rev. J. Ross Stevenson, the chairman, and in the report he declared that the past year had been "a difficult and troubled one not only in America but over the entire world." He said that the distress in Germany and Austria, resulting from unemployment, was growing alarmingly, and that the unemployment situation in Europe was immeasurably worse than in the United States.

There was an address and discussion, led by Dr. Stevenson, on "The Lambeth Conference," and another on "The Doctrinal Basis for Presbyterian Church Union" by the Rev. W. I. Wishart. Following this, unfinished business of the conference was disposed of and the gathering was adjourned.

The primary purpose of the whole conference has been to bring Presbyterian churches of all kinds into closer union, both in their work and their methods of missions and doctrine. Several addresses on the subject were made and those in charge declared before the adjournment that the conference had gone far in furthering its purpose. Almost half of the delegates to the conference were from Canadian cities.

SLAYER OF WOMAN ON WAY TO JERSEY

drank, then went to a movie, then back to the chop suey joint and had something to eat and drink. Then we went to another picture show.

"We made up our minds to go to Florida. We started out, but somewhere below Seffrin, in Jersey, I got nervous or something. I had a gun under the back seat of the car. I stopped the car and went back to get the gun. While I was getting the gun, it went off accidentally, somehow."

Lacked Nerve for Suicide.

"I did not know what to do. I thought I would go to Rahway. I went there and stopped and told my cousin and went over and told my wife. She asked me what I was going to do. I said, 'I do not know.'

"There were only two things to do—to tell the police and commit suicide. Then I went to the country to commit suicide, but I did not have the nerve to do it. I went back to Rahway, then left Rahway and came on South."

Facts uncovered previously dovetailed with bits of his story. Continuing his trip from Washington, Frazer cut away all clothes from the body with scissors, which he said "just happened" to be in the car. A ring she wore was cut from her finger with a pair of pliers. Stripped of every mark which he said might lead to identification of the corpse, he dragged it into the woods about 50 yards from the highway and left it before resuming his trip and stopping off in Raleigh.

Body Found by Laborer.

While searching for a dog he had lost, W. M. Twiggs, a Negro laborer, was attarcted to the gruesome body lying a thicket close to Doswell, Va., by buzzards. Justice of the Peace G. F. Conway, at Bowling Green, was notified and tsarted the investigation, which resulted in positive identification of the body on Wednesday by Louis Stader, of Rahway, as that of his wife.

About the same time on Wednesday detectives in Raleigh arrested Frazer as he applied for mail under an assumed name at the postoffice there. He admitted his identity, but steadfastly denied that he had killed the woman of that he knew of her death.

His confession yesterday was made to Abe J. David, New Jersey prosecutor! A. A. Aronson, of Raleigh, his attorney, and Raleigh authorities. He waived extradition.

Bullet Entered From Back.

The autopsy was conducted yesterday in Rahway by Dr. George W. Horre, assistant county physician, who found that the bullet had entered from the back. There were no other wounds and no evidence of any struggle, he said. Stader there made a second identification of the bruised and discolored body, adding that this was almost his wedding anniversary. He and Phoebe Stader, then a divorcee, were married February 23, 1923, he said.

Martin ensen, Frazer's 20-year-old cousin, who told Rahway police of seeing the body in the machine when Frazer drove it there soon after the shooting, was held in custody there as a material witness in the case.

David handcuffed Frazer to two detectives and boarded a train there at 8:25 o'clock last night, planning to arrive in Rahway today for immediate arraignment.

Other Clothing Found.

In Passaic County, near Haledon, police found a bunch of clothing that was assumed to have been worn by Mrs. Stader. Brown shoes and stockings and a pair of pink bloomers were found beside the roadside. There had been no attempt to burn them, as Frazer told of doing in one of his revelations.

There was an extraordinary scene in the prosecutor's office here when Frazer's mother, Mrs. Edna Frazer, and his wife, Hilda, were brought face to face by Assistant Prosecutor Thomas F. Hueston. Each blamed the other for letting "this thing happen." Each accused the other of helping Frazer escape.

His mother admitted giving Jensen $260 to take to her son, waiting in Raleigh, but said she did so only because the younger Mrs. Frazer had no money.

"I gave him $5, all I had!" shouted the wife. The mother drew a $5 bill and, offered it to the wife, who snatched it and flung it back at her again, and simultaneously they each accused the other of withholding information.

Wife's Course Undecided.

Hilda Frazer was uncertain of her attitude when her husband should be brought back. "I've stayed by him," she said, "and I've stood plenty. I don't know what I'll do now.

"I tried to break up his affair with Mrs. Stader. I even contemplated a divorce several times, but backed out after my husband pleaded with me not to leave him, that I was the only one he loved."

Mrs. Edna Frazer told of introducing her son to Mrs. Stader when tthey were neighbors in Rahway.

Racketeer Is Indicted In Councilman's Death

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—A first degree murder indictment was returned late today against "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, Pittsburgh racketeer, in connection with the mysterious slaying February 3 of William E. Potter, former Cleveland councilman.

Martin probably will be arraigned before Criminal Court Judge McMahon tomorrow morning.

PUPILS' 3-CENT CAR FARE BILL IS SIGNED

Measure Made Law by Hoover Will Also Be Applied to Private Schools.

President Hoover yesterday signed the bill providing for a 3-cent street car fare for school children, thereby giving that measure the status of a law.

The Public Utilities Commission indicated yesterday that it would insist on a system of issuing special children's tickets by transportation line representatives at the various public schools in view of the refusal of the Board of Education to assume the responsibility.

The parochial schools are understood to be willing to sell the 3-cent tickets, it was said at yesterday's meeting.

All private educational institutions having pupils that come within the scope of the law may take advantage of the reduced fare, it was decided, although Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman, had previously announced that the privilege would be restricted to public and parochial schools.

A 3-cent fare, which had been decided on at a conference of two members of the commission and representatives of the street car and bus lines earlier in the week, was formally adopted by the utilities body.

The question of transfers was discussed, but no decision was reached. Indications are, however, that there will be no interline transfers offered without an extra charge, as in the case with adult fares.

All the details of the plan of distribution should be ironed out within a week or ten days, Harleigh H. Hartman, vice chairman, said, following the meeting. Further conferences among school and transportation officials and the commission will be held.

Mine Water Kills One and Traps 24

All of 1,200 Men in Shaft Near Scranton Are Accounted For.

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—A flood of water, presumably from an abandoned working, brought death to one man and trapped 24 others for more than an hour today in the Underwood Mine of the Pittston Coal Co. near here.

Many other men fled to safety before the water reached them and first reports circulated about the country side were that scores of men had been killed. Officials said all the 1,200 workers in the plant had been accounted for tonight.

Edward Curtis, 49, of Jessup, drowned. The 24 rescued suffered nothing worse than a soaking and shock. Mine officials said a miner's blast might have opened the way for the water, thousands of gallons of which poured into the mine.

Quiz of Girl Due In Griffith Case

Film Extra Is Summoned to Tell of Assault Charge Against Director.

Los Angeles, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Fern Setril, 22, film extra, was summoned to the district attorney's office today for questioning about a $601,000 damage suit she brought against David Wark Griffith, film director, on grounds of criminal assault.

Investigators also were ordered to bring Karl W. Taylor, a friend of the girl, to the office. Shortly after the suit was filed, Taylor was alleged to have called newspapers and attempted to sell a story of the girl's life.

District Attorney Buron Fitts said "if the facts develop sufficiently to justify a prosecution on the charge of a conspiracy to commit the crime of extortion, or attempted extortion, this office will prosecute." He said Griffith, who is in New York, had been asked to return here.

William Allen Greer, former attorney in the office of the solicitor of the Treasury, died Wednesday at Summit, N. J., after a brief illness. He had lived in Washington since 1900, when he received an appointment to the Treasury Department.

Mr. Greer was born at Mount Vernon, Ohio, September 2, 1848, a son of Allen Greer, who was first lieutenant, Company A, Thirty-second Iowa Infantry Volunteers, during the Civil War. He was editor of the Eldorado Herald, in Iowa Falls, accepting that position soon after finishing the State University of Iowa and the law school of the university, where he was graduated in June, 1872.

At the time of his accepting the position in the Treasury Department he was a member of the editorial staff of the West Publishing Co., St. Paul, Minn., and he also was a member of the law firm of Porter & Moir, Eldorado, Iowa. He married Miss Oliva Shawhan, of Sigonmey, Iowa, in 1876.

Judge May Select Jury To Speed Buckley Trial

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Impatient at what he termed the "sparring for time" by attorneys in the trial of the three men indicted for the slaying of Radio Announcer Jerry Buckley, Recorder Judge Edward J. Jeffries today threatened to take over the task of selecting jurors in an effort to expedite proceedings.

The three defendants in the trial are Ted Pizzino, Angelo Livecchi, and Joe Bommarito, who were named with four others in a blanket indictment returned by the Wayne County grand jury.

Kirkland Defense Is Hit by Physician

Coroner's Aid Testifies Girl Could Have Recovered From Head Blow.

Valparaiso, Ind., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Before a courtroom crowd arbitrarily limited in size, a physician today gave testimony which struck a blow at the defense of Virgil Kirkland, Gary athlete, on trial for the drinking-party death of Arlene Draves.

Dr. J. R. Burcham, a coroner's physician, said a postmortem indicated that the 18-year-old girl could have recovered from an injury to her head which Kirkland maintains caused death.

On the other hand, he said, there was evidence of shock and internal hemorrhage, which might have killed the girl, regardless of the blood clot found on her brain. Citing evidence that the girl had been attacked, he said "she died of shock due to cerebral and another hemorrhage."

Kirkland, who is accused of attacking Miss Draves, intends to testify that she fell heavily on a concrete floor while drinking and thus fatally injured herself.

RECEPTION TO OPEN NEW REPTILE HOUSE

Quarters at National Zoo Will Be on Display First Time Tonight.

With moving day about completed, reptiles at the National Zoo are ready to greet prominent Washington residents and officials of the largest zoo in the country tonight at the reception which will formally open their new quarters.

Following the function the new Reptile House, which was built at a cost of about a quarter of a million dollars, will be thrown open to the public tomorrow.

Finishing touches were put on yesterday and dozens of zoo employes were busy making the cages ready and installing new tenants. Each was accommodated in quarters made to resemble as nearly as possible the reptile's natural habitat.

The tenants of the new house displayed unusual activity as they were placed inside the glass cages, which are heated at automatically regulated temperatures ranging from 75 to 85 degrees, depending upon the requirements of the individual specimens.

Many of the snakes and lizards have broken long fasts under the stimulus of the warmth, and some of them even promise to shed their skins.

A special cage has been prepared for the 14-foot king cobra, to be seen here at the reception tonight for the first time. The cobra is one of the largest in captivity and was acquired by the National Zoo several months ago at considerable cost.

The snake has been a guest at the Bronx Park Zoo in New York for most of that time because there was no available space for it at the Washington Park.

Florida Sheriff Chased in Indiana

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Pursued by his prisoner's Indiana attorney, Sheriff S. E. Stone, of Volusia County, Fla., was reported speeding toward the Indiana-Kentucky State line late today with John McGuire, wanted in Deland, Fla., for the shooting of a policeman and railroad detective.

The sheriff whisked McGuire into an automobile and away after Gov. Harry G. Leslie had honored extradition papers, and while McGuire's attorney, Samuel D. Jackson, of Fort Wayne, Ind., was attempting to get a writ of habeas corpus in a county court. Informed of their departure, Mr. Jackson set out in pursuit shortly after 4 o'clock.

McGuire was arrested in Fort Wayne recently.

G. O. P. RENOMINATES SPEAKER LONGWORTH

ation of the oil legislation at this session.

Shortly thereafter, the Republican Kansas delegation met and issued the following statement over the signatures of Representatives Hoch, Guyer, Hope, Sparks, and Lamberton:

"We are Republicans and believe in party organization and party responsibility, and expect to continue in that attitude. More than that, we know how hollow are the protestations of the Democratic party in our present problems.

"But deeply as we regret the necessity for this action, we feel that circumstances prevent our attending the Republican conference, in order to preserve beyond any questions our freedom of action."

Of the remaining Kansas Republicans, Representative Sproul retires March 4, and Representative Strong said he would attend the caucus, "to take part in its deliberations."

Others Attend Caucus.

Meanwhile, from Representative Garber, Oklahoma Republican, came a threat of coalition in the evenly divided new House between oil State Republicans and Democrats for revision of the tariff.

"It is only a temporary victory and an ill-advised one for the Eastern States," he said of the oil decision. "They will repent it in sack cloth and ashes.

"The next Congress will be Republican by a majority of only two. There is a sufficient number of Republicans from Western States to join the Democrats to open up the tariff and include oil.

One Plank Result.

"When we do, the duties are going to be leveled and apportioned on Eastern manufactures, on the same basis with their arguments against an oil tariff."

Meanwhile, Harold McGugin, Republican representative-elect for Kansas, announced at Topeka he would vote for Representative Garner, of Texas, a Democrat, for Speaker of the next House.

He said he would vote to "take control from the Eastern Republicans and give it to Southern Democrats, who are our economic allies in oil and dairy."

An original application for release of Miss De Boe on bail was filed in the appellate court on grounds Judge Doran had overstepped his authority in refusing to free her and he had denied her a proper hearing.

Naval Station Use In Dry Raid Probed

Prisoners Taken Through Base to Coast Guard Cutter, Officer Asserts.

Key West, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—An inquiry into action of Federal prohibition agents in transporting prisoners accused of violating liquor laws through the naval station here without permission was instituted today by Capt. Robert T. Menner, station commandant.

The investigation was prompted, Capt. Menner said, as a result of the prohibition officers marching through the naval grounds to a Coast Guard cutter with a number of prisoners arrested in raids, and the subsequent issuance of station orders for the posting of guards at the gates to halt such procedure.

Capt. Menner said the incident occurred shortly before he returned here from a trip to Havana. The orders to the guards were issued by Lieut. Reynolds, in charge of the station, during his absence.

The other two were already members of Negro Baptist churches.

ZEPPELIN TERMINAL FOR VIRGINIA HINTED

Representative of Akron Firm Says Alexandria May Be Selected.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Ward T. Van Orman, of the International Zeppelin Transportation Corporation, of Akron, Ohio, spoke before members of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce and special guests at a dinner last night in George Mason Hotel and opened his talk with the remark that "the birthplace of the government may be the birthplace of a new industry."

He stated that air recording instruments have been placed in four places, Alexandria or Hybla Valley, just south of Alexandria; Richmond, Va., Baltimore and near Philadelphia, and the location of the terminal for the International Zeppelin Transportation Corporation will be determined by the record of these instruments. He gave an interesting account of the history of lighter-than-air craft and many amusing and thrilling tales of his various flights, particularly in balloon races.

The dinner was presided over by John Barton Phillips, president of the chamber of commerce, who introduced the special guests of the evening Col. Edward H. Shults, commanding officer at Fort Humphreys; Col. Ambrose T. Embrey, commanding officer at Fort Hunt; Thomas P. Littlepage, vice president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce; Capt. W. M. Thomas, jr., executive officer at Fort Humphreys; Dorsey W. Hyde, secretary of the Washington Chamber of Commerce; John Rabbitt, manager of the Washington Airport; the Rev. E. R. Spencer, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Alexandria, who had pronounced the invocation, and Mayor Carroll Pierce of Alexandria.

Mr. Phillips then turned the meeting over to Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, who introduced the speaker of the evening. In his introduction Mr. Hollenga stated that Mr. Van Orman had participated in nineteen international balloon races and of that number won nine. He said it is the hope of the chamber of commerce that the selection for the terminal will be Alexandria.

9 BILLS MAY AFFECT MARYLAND COUNTIES

pairing dirt roads and coportionate amounts for repairing and resurfacing macadamized roads. Under the new system which it is proposed to install, the county commissioners would be authorized to levy such sums as are regarded necessary. Funds would be apportioned among the several county commissioner districts. The bill stipulates that this would be 10 per cent to the first, second, third, fourth and fifth districts, and 35 per cent to the fifth and seventh districts.

The measure relating to the Bethesda Fire Department zone would make the northern boundary line of the area conform with the western line of the Bethesda-Silver Spring highway.

The Fourth of July would be the only exception to the sale of fireworks at Bethesda under the provisions of the bill presented today.

The bill to abolish the special taxing area of Alta Vista empowers the treasurer of Montgomery County to collect all special assessments from the date of passage of the proposed law and to turn the funds over to the village to be applied to liquidating the balance of an indebtedness incurred by the citizens committee.

The bill by Senator Hilton relating to removal of obstructions from State highways is a State-wide measure and provides for reducing the period of notice required to be given property owners for such removal from two months to ten days.

The bill advocating an additional judge for the seventh circuit, presented by the Prince Georges delegation, was sponsored by members of the bar of the county, who feel that the amount of work has increased to such an extent that it is too great for one jurist to handle properly. The bill specifies that if an additional judge is provided he should come from Prince Georges County, provided only one associate judge comes from there and in the event a jurist of that county should become chief judge of the circuit. The fact that the bill is in the form of a constitutional amendment it calls for a referendum to the electorate in 1932.

Defects in certain particulars having been found in the charter of the village of Colmar furnished the motive for Delegate Keyes, of Prince Georges County, introducing the bill providing for a new instrument.

LEGION TO SPONSOR ADDRESS ON SOVIET

Montgomery County Ready for Patriotic Meeting at Silver Spring.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post.
9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md.
Telephone Wisconsin 4200.

Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., of New York, chairman of the special committee which investigated activities of Communists in the United States, will be principal speaker at a patriotic meeting to be held at the Silver Spring Armory tonight at 8 o'clock, under auspices of the American Legion.

As an added attraction, the speech of Representative Fish will be supplemented by the tale of Arthur A. Kopman, an American citizen who was held prisoner by the Soviet government for more than two years. Kopman, who represented an American paper company in Russia, was suspected of being a spy and was thrown into a Soviet prison camp without trial. He finally managed to notify American authorities in Poland through a smuggled message and was liberated after two years of enforced labor in the lumber regions of Siberia.

Mrs. William Sherman Walker, former vice president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution and now chairman of the national defense committee of that body, will speak on "The Five Year Plan." Mr. Fish has announced that his talk will embrace the findings of his committee and its expected recommendations to the Congress for control of red propaganda in this country. The meeting is a second of a series of county-wide meetings to educate the public in regard to the "Red Menace" being held by the Montgomery County Legion posts and their auxiliaries. The posts participating are the Claxel-Sazon Post, of Silver Spring; the Henderson-Smith-Edmonds Post, of Rockville, and the Norman B. Price Post, of Sandy Spring.

Col. George Henderson, State commander of Maryland, will preside and introduce the speakers. Mrs. Charles T. Conrad, president of the Maryland Auxiliary, also will speak. Music will be furnished by the Army Band.

Maj. Howard T. Cutler, commander of the Silver Spring Post, is being assisted by Mrs. Paul Clark, president of the Silver Spring Auxiliary; Commander Warner E. Pumphrey, of the Rockville Legion, and Mrs. Helen Weedon, of the Rockville Auxiliary.

Boy Scouts of Troop 100 will act as ushers. The Rev. T. A. Calnan, pastor of St. Michael's Church, will give the invocation, and the Rev. Ralph D. Smith, of the Woodside M. E. Church, the benediction.

A special meeting of the drought relief committee of the Montgomery County Chapter of the American Red Cross has been called for Monday afternoon in the Rockville High School by Frank B. Severance, Gaithersburg banker, who is chairman of the committee.

The committee will discuss ways and means of combating distress in the county caused by the drought of last summer. Miss Helen Teal, who is field representative of the national Red Cross, will report on her recent survey of conditions. The Red Cross has already given aid in 29 cases in the county and is preparing for more extensive help. It will not handle ordinary unemployment cases, but will confine its efforts to drought relief.

F. Barnard Welsh, Rockville attorney, who is chairman of the local relief fund collection committee, announced last night that the Montgomery County contributions probably will be well over $6,000 or practically double the county quota. Several precincts have not been heard from as yet, but all those which have reported show more than their quota collected.

Reports are as follows: Chevy Chase, $1,646.35; Bethesda, $1,443.16; Silver Spring, $850; Kensington, $448.52; Sandy Spring, $447.85. Other precincts are still to be heard from.

Arousing the interest of the individual in his personal duty to church, State and community was advanced as one of the ways to combat financial and industrial depressions last night by the Rev. A. H. Thompson, of Washington, speaking at the annual dinner of the Men's Bible Class of Epworth M. E. Church, Gaithersburg. The dinner was held in the Sunday schoolroom of the church.

H. B. Kanode presided and introduced the speaker. The Rev. A. E. Spielman, pastor of the church, also was a guest. Music was furnished by the Browningsville Orchestra, under the direction of Phil King.

A joint luncheon for the Ladies Aid Society and the Home Missionary Society of the church was held in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. E. Crawford. Leaders from Washington addressed the meetings.

POLICE MYSTIFIED BY "CAT THIEF"

Burglar in Toronto Works Steadily for 5 Weeks; Not Yet Caught.

MONEY IS HIS PET HOBBY

Special to The Washington Post.

Toronto, Ontario, Feb 26.—They are looking for a man with the temperament of a cat. That is practically everything the police have to work on in the search for a night marauder who has worked steadily among the houses of the East End, leaving no clews to his size, his appearance or his identity.

Only his tastes and his tact does he make evident. From the manner of his movements he has earned the soubriquet, "the cat thief." And only one person has been known to see anything of him.

Late one night a woman in the East End was closing her house for the night. She had extinguished the kitchen light and started toward the stairs when she heard the window in the kitchen slowly raised. Turning, she observed an arm was causing the movement.

"Who's that?" she demanded.

A cool voice answered immediately with another question, "Is this the home of Mr. Dean?"

"Sorry," the voice apologized, and she heard steps receding down the alley. When she had summoned assistance there was no sign of her would-be caller. That is the only occasion on which footfalls or a voice which probably belong to the "Cat" have been heard.

Almost every morning for five weeks some outraged citizen has telephoned police headquarters and announced that the "cat thief" has called and collected his bounty.

Jewelry, silver or "objets d'art" do not appeal to his simple tastes. It's money he is after. And that's not all. One one occasion he left a shabby suit of clothes and an overcoat lying in a corner, and a check revealed that he had replenished his wardrobe from the excellent tailoring of his host. He took an extra suit along.

THOMAS R. SHIPMAN DIES.

Funeral Will Be Held Here Tomorrow Afternoon.

Thomas R. Shipman, 62 years old, died yesterday at his home, 4426 P street northwest, following a lengthy illness.

A native of Loudoun County, Va., Mr. Shipman had been a resident of this city since his early childhood. He was educated in the public schools of Virginia, and for an umber of years had been a salesman for the Independent Oil Co. here. He was a member of the Order of Macabees.

Surviving Mr. Shipman are his wife, Mrs. Ella N. Shipman; a son, William T. Shipman; two brothers, William H. and Jerome Shipman, and two sisters, Mrs. Cecil Smith and Mrs. Mary West, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at St. John's Episcopal Church, Potomac and O streets northwest. Interment will be in Potomac, Md.

BANK THUGS ELUDE POSSE AS 1 IS SHOT

Officer Also Wounded While Hastings Robbers Are Sought in 2 States.

Hastings, Nebr., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The manhunt for two Hastings bank robbers who held a posse at bay and abducted two policemen after a gun battle in which a third robber and an officer were wounded, extended to Kansas tonight.

The fleeing bandits were last seen near Sylvan Grove, Kans., and authorities here in charge of the pursuit asked that Kansas officers patrol highways of that vicinity in an effort to apprehend the robbers.

The wounded robber, who gave his name as Robert Hendricks, 36, was caught this morning at Belvidere. Physicians held little hope for his recovery. He was shot in the abdomen in the gun battle which took place last night when officers attempted to enter a house here and arrest three bandits who had bound and gagged thirteen persons and robbed the Hastings National Bank of $27,873 yesterday.

With Hendricks when he was arrested were his wife and child, who were brought here with him. The woman refused to answer any questions.

The two abducted policemen were also located early today. Officer William Woods, forced to accompany Hendricks after the bandits compelled possemen seeking them to drop their guns under threat of death to Volcott Condit, investigator for the Nebraska Bankers Association, was found bound to a fence near Grafton, Nebr., by policemen. A few hours later Police Capt. Frank Yettman, who had been forced to accompany the bandits in another car when Hendricks was abducted, freed himself from a chair in a schoolhouse to which he had been tied, and walked to Sylvan Grove. Condit was wounded seriously in the gun fight.

Bennett Slaying Over Cards Told

Participant in Game Takes Stand and Tells of Row; Woman Accused.

Kansas City, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Charles Hofman, a participant in the game, related at the murder trial of Mrs. Myrtle Bennett today how a contract bridge bid of four spades, doubled and lost, caused a quarrel which ended in the fatal shooting of John G. Bennett in the couple's fashionable apartment here September 29, 1929.

Hofman was the first witness called by Prosecutor James R. Page to offer testimony which Page told the jury would prove Mrs. Bennett deliberately shot her husband as he was leaving home angered by the card game controversy.

The witness, admittedly a friend of the dark-clad, weeping defendant, told his version of Bennett's death immediately after former Senator James A. Reed, defense attorney, declared to the jury that the shooting was wholly accidental.

MacDonald Is Defeated Twice in Committee

London, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Ramsay MacDonald's government was defeated twice in the standing committee of the House of Commons tonight; once on a Liberal amendment to the trades disputes bill and again on a Conservative amendment to the agricultural marketing bill.

By a vote of 27 to 31 the committee practically nullified the trades disputes measure. The vote was 25 to 23 on the marketing bill which would to a certain extent socialize farming in Great Britain.

The exercises were attended by members of the law faculty of Georgetown, professors of various law schools in the city and a number of members of the District of Columbia bar, having been invited as guests of the law school. Charles Sumner Lobingier, former judge of the International Court at Shanghai, China, presided and the introductory address was made by the Rev. Thomas E. Chetwood, regent of the Georgetown Law School.

Dr. Cassidy is a well-known authority on Roman law, who joined the faculty at Georgetown during the past year. He is a graduate of the law departments of Georgetown and Harvard Universities. River Is Dragged As Fishers Return Patrolmen Appear After Police Find Belongings, and Begin Search.

Patrolman Larney Thompkins, of the Eleventh Precinct, went catfishing yesterday and the Harbor Precinct went fishing for him.

The piscatorial expert of the Eleventh Precinct and a fellow angler, Patrolman Paul E. Berger, parked their automobile in exactly the same spot as they had parked it on Wednesday in East Potomac Park.

Sergt. Reese, of the Park Police, noted the car and when searching it came upon Policeman Thompkins' badge, hat, shield and night stick. A rescue squad was organized and the Harbor Precinct began to drag the river. Soon after, the men appeared, carrying catfish on a string. They were informed that the police were dragging the river for them. After assuring the rescuers that they were not drowned, nor even wet, the searching party disbanded.

MORE GUARDS URGED AT DETENTION HOUSE

Coroner's Jury Suggests Changes After Fatal Leap of Woman Inmate.

An increase in personnel at the House of Detention was recommended by a coroner's jury yesterday which brought in a verdict of accidental death in its investigation of the fatal plunge of Mrs. Marie Catrone, 34 years old, from a fourth-floor window of the detention home.

The jury, which asked why recommendations of a coroner's jury had not been wholly fulfilled, were told that the fire marshal had forbidden officials of the home to install bars on all the windows because of the fire hazard.

Sergt. Rhoda Milliken, in charge of the detention home, testified that at times there are 80 prisoners in the home with only two matrons to guard them.

Pursuing a recommendation of a coroner's jury which investigated a similar death last May, Sergt. Milliken said that two inside windows on each floor had been barred. It was in one of these barred rooms that Mrs. Catrone was kept, she said.

When Mrs. Lola Warner made her round soon after 1 o'clock yesterday morning, Mrs. Catrone was apparently asleep, she said, and a few minutes later she arose and leaped from an outside unbarred window.

Mrs. Catrone was being held on a charge of intoxication. She lived on Fourth street near G street northeast. When arrested she gave the name of Rose Spinelli. She was identified yesterday by her husband.

Inspection of 100 Bakeries Reveals Customers Get Value Received.

Despite reductions in the price of bread within the District, coincident with the Senate inquiry, there have been no short weights in the loaves, George M. Roberts, superintendent of weights and measures, announced yesterday following a thorough inquiry.

An inspector was detailed to visit unannounced the approximately 100 bakeries within Washington, Mr. Roberts said, and a check was made on the bread sold at chain stores when not baked in the city.

The law provides that bread in the District may be baked in loaves of ½ pound, 1 pound, 1½ pounds or any even number of pounds. Each loaf must be labeled with the net weight of the loaf, and any purchaser may require the merchant to weigh the bread in his presence.

Texas Club Will Mark State Independence Day

The Texas Club of Washington will celebrate Texan Independence Day this year with a reception tomorrow night at 9 o'clock at 2400 Sixteenth street northwest. The actual Independence day falls on March 2 and marks the fifty-ninth anniversary of the State's freedom and also the 138th anniversary of the birth of Gen. Sam Houston, first president of the Texas Republic.

Finis J. Garrett, former Democratic leader in the House of Representatives, now judge of the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, will deliver an address on the life and character of Houston. Eugene Black, president of the club, will speak on the Texas Declaration of Independence.

Cyclical Turn in Trade Predicted by Analysis

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—It is now reasonably safe to assume, says Moody's Service in its monthly analysis, that business conditions are about to enter soon upon a cyclical upswing.

"Our preliminary trade barometer figure for January," says the analysis, published today, "has shown the first advance since last spring, although its extent is very moderate and the statistics on which it is based are subject to revision. The prosperity index has also risen very slightly, but this is due to a more favorable comparison with the abnormally low level of December rather than any material improvement in the Nation's prosperity."

PRINCE GEORGE EXCELS WALES IN WINNING GIRLS

cooperation between this country and England in commerce—the task which primarily brought him across the Atlantic.

The royal business man conferred for more than five hours with Chilean industrial leaders. He was accompanied by Prince George.

The entire staff of the royal visitors was in a good mood today as the result of good fortune at the baccarat table last night. The Prince of Wales, however, was somewhat bored with his second night's play, as his luck was neither good nor bad, and there was little excitement. On the previous night, when he played until almost morning, he was reported to have won more than $3,000.

Tonight the princes returned to the social life, attending a dinner dance at the Club de Vina del Mar.

Like his brother, George has figured in more than one romance which never came off.

In 1924 matchmakers said he would marry Lady Alexandra Curzon. The next year they were reporting his betrothal to Poppy Baring, daughter of Sir Godfrey Baring. When that didn't materialize the gossips said he had been sent to China to nip the match in the bud.

He did go to China and on the way back figured in adventures at Hollywood which clinched his reputation as a true son of the rollicking princely line for which King Edward set a precedent of informality while he was Prince of Wales.

Once, the records show, he tore his trousers on a rustic bench at Santa Barbara and a dance in his honor was delayed as a consequence. Once he exhibited several crocheted scarves for Queen Mary's needlework guild and there was a brief vogue of knitting among English gentlemen.

Recently, lifting another of his brother's distinctions, he fell off a horse while hunting in England, and now he seems to be making a favorable impression with his brother as Great Britain's premier "salesman."

2 Aged Men and Woman Are Found Dead of Gas

Indianapolis, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Two men and a woman, all elderly, were found asphyxiated in their home here this morning by fumes thought to have come from a kitchen gas heater. The victims, fully dressed, apparently were stricken without warning.

MARYLAND PROVIDES FOR FAMILY OF LEE

Widow Will Be Employed; Two Deputies Still Held for Jury Action.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis Md., Feb. 26.—Substantial relief for the widow and children of George Lee, of West Annapolis, slain by deputy State game wardens, is assured as the result of a conference between Gov. Ritchie, Sweepon Earle, head of the conservation department, and Senator Ridgely P. Melvin, of Anne Arundel County.

After the conference Mr. Earle announced that Mrs. Lee would be given a position in the employ of the conservation commission of such a character that she could conveniently attend to without requiring her to be away from her two minor children and at the same time earn a substantial income at a definite monthly salary.

Senator Melvin and Commissioner Earle today conferred with Mrs. Lee with the view to determining the character of her employment so that it will not infringe upon family requirements. The employment by the State will have the effect of killing the bill introduced in the Legislature providing for a pension of $60 monthly until the children become of age.

Lee was killed while he was gigging fish unlawfully in the Severn River. His two brothers escaped. The deputy wardens, Vernon J. Dresch and Raymond Powers, are now in the Anne Arundel County Jail. A coroner's jury held them without bail for the grand jury on a technical charge of murder.

Twenty-five additional veniremen will report at that time.

THE BONUS VETO.

The issue between the President and Congress on the bonus bill is now squarely before the people. President Hoover's reasons for refusing to approve of huge loans to citizens who are not in need are now being read and digested by millions. These millions include veterans, both those in need and those who are employed. All of them, whether working or idle, are dependent upon the welfare of the entire country for their own welfare. Many of the unemployed veterans may be anxious to obtain even a small loan with which to tide over their difficulties, but their own record proves that they have public spirit and a sense of responsibility as American citizens. Few of them would insist upon obtaining advantages for themselves at the expense of the public welfare.

Every one of the plausible arguments advanced in Congress in behalf of the bonus bill is discussed by the President in his veto message. He disposes of the fallacies one by one. No disinterested citizen can read the message without becoming convinced that the legislation is pernicious and that Congress is actuated by political rather than humanitarian motives in passing the bill. The majority in Congress fondly believe that the soldier vote is earned by passing the bill, and that the taxpayers and general public, being unorganized, will find it impossible to administer a rebuke.

It will be difficult, indeed, for the public to retaliate upon individuals or upon either political party. Only in districts or States where the bonus question becomes an issue will legislators who voted for the bill incur risk of defeat. Other questions will thrust themselves forward and push the bonus question into the background. But the possibility of evading public resentment does not excuse any legislator who supports the bonus even when he knows that the President's position is right. The duty of legislators is to the whole people, and misgovernment results when they shift this duty entirely upon the President.

The President's plain warning that the Nation will be heavily taxed by the bonus project would be sufficient in ordinary times to cause Congress to halt. If it does not, it is partly because the immediate effects of the increased burden will not be apparent, and partly because legislators may indulge the hope that prosperity will return soon in any event and thus overcome the handicap of this legislation. But an analysis of the situation reveals that this is a slim hope, resting upon too slight foundations to justify the risk that is taken. The provision for loans will in itself put a check upon returning prosperity by increasing interest rates, not only to the Government but to the States, municipalities and to general business. The people must pay this interest, and they will be lucky if they escape increased taxes besides. Therefore business enterprise will be discouraged rather than encouraged by the proposed distribution of bonus borrowings. If large enterprises are postponed because of increased interest charges and uncertainty the result will be an increase of unemployment in which veterans themselves may be the sufferers. It would afford them little comfort if they should obtain $100 or so by borrowing on their certificates and then lose steady employment.

The guardian of the Nation's welfare has spoken. His words may not prevail with the majorities in Congress. But they will sink deeply in the public mind, and if a setback should come the public will not lay the blame at the door of the White House. Mr. Hoover has had the moral courage to perform his duty to the whole people.

SENATE MUDSLINGING.

The Senate confirms the appointment of Eugene Meyer to be governor of the Federal Reserve Board by a vote of 72 to 11. There was never any doubt that he would be confirmed, but instead of proceeding decently the committee in charge of the nomination permitted one or two senators to subject Mr. Meyer to the third degree. Baseless rumors, unfounded accusations and insulting questions were poured forth and given wide publicity. With astonishing good nature and patience Mr. Meyer came through the ordeal with enhanced reputation for poise, fairness and sound judgment.

President Hoover is fortunate in obtaining the services of capable men in spite of the mud baths which are now a part of the Senate ritual. From the Chief Justice of the United States to small-town postmasters, every appointee whose name is submitted to the Senate is liable to be attacked and vilified. Senators are exempt from prosecution for slander. They are not bound by the rules of evidence, but are free to flood the record with gossip, hearsay and pure falsehoods. Most of the senators have a sense of fairness and will not take advantage of their immunity in order to spread slanderous reports. A few others, however, use the Senate as a sounding board in spreading malicious and false reports through the country. The unfair attacks usually recoil upon the heads of those who abuse their prerogatives, but the Senate's toleration of the abuses certainly does not raise it in the esteem or confidence of the people.

POLITICS AND VETERANS' HOSPITALS.

An unfortunate controversy has arisen over the bill to provide additional hospital facilities for war veterans. The House refused to instruct its conferees to accept the Smoot bill, which was substituted in the Senate for the Rogers bill. The two conflicting measures are, therefore, thrown into conference with the House in an uncompromising mood.

The only principle for which the House is contending is that of log-rolling. The House passed two bills authorizing the expenditure of about $15,000,000 for construction of veterans' hospitals and homes at definite locations. At the request of the veterans' administration the Senate substituted a bill of its own combining the projects and enlarging the appropriation to $20,877,000. The Senate deliberately rejected the House program, so that the Federal Hospitalization Board would have a free hand to locate the additional facilities where they are most needed. But the idea of appropriating money in such a way that representatives can not claim full credit for the location of hospitals in their home districts is abhorrent to the House.

Apparently there is no objection in the House to increasing the amount to be appropriated. Under any circumstance legislation of this nature will commit the Government to hospitalization of all disabled veterans, whether or not their ailments were caused by war service. If Congress accepts such a policy it might just as well launch a five-year construction program as a three-year program. The essential thing is that these hospitals be located where they are needed, and not where the greatest political pressure exists.

One of the most important features of the bill—that reducing the compensation of hospitalized veterans—was cut out before it went to the House. Senator La Follette interposed an objection to this feature because "veterans' organizations had not had time to discuss it." As a result of his political whim veterans in their young manhood will be encouraged to spend the remainder of their lives in homes and hospitals at Government expense while other veterans who are totally disabled may be deprived of hospital or home facilities.

If the conferees permit the log-rolling method of locating these hospitals to be restored two major purposes of this legislation will have been defeated.

BRITAIN'S DESPERATE PLIGHT.

While Parliament was voting to borrow an additional $100,000,000 for the dole fund in London last week, former Premier Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, was making a plea for a protective policy that might substitute jobs for pensioned idleness. Taking the two incidents together one may get a fair impression of the deplorable situation that Great Britain is in. Latest figures show that 2,642,000 men are unemployed, and there is no indication that the peak has been reached. Payments to these destitute workmen will amount to $450,000,000, and the unemployment fund is $335,000,000 in debt.

The employers' association has issued a statement attributing the stagnation of British industry to higher wage levels and more expensive social service than exist on the Continent, and to the crushing tax burden. Mr. Baldwin calls attention to the fact that the importation of manufactured articles is increasing, while there is a steady decrease in the volume of exports. Obviously there must be a change soon, or Britain will pass out of the list of great industrial nations.

Instead of going to the heart of her industrial troubles, Britain decided a number of years ago to put the unemployed on a dole. In spite of all that has been done to reduce the number without work the dole system has expanded. Today it is sapping the life blood of British industry. England is importing cheaper goods from the Continent and taxing its people to support a vast army of unemployed. The problems of industry have not been solved, but the burdens placed upon industry have been multiplied.

As a first step toward rehabilitation, Mr. Baldwin suggests a tariff against the cheap goods of other countries. If a protective policy is not adopted, wage reductions and lower standards of living will be forced upon the people. This in turn would probably react against industry and produce further idleness. But a tariff policy is no panacea. Unless industry is modernized so that it can compete with industry in other countries, a tariff would only postpone the final reckoning. The truth is that antiquated machinery and obsolete methods have left Great Britain behind in the race for business. Industry and labor are quarreling instead of cooperating. These fundamentally bad conditions afford little hope that the nation can work out from under the crushing dole system by mere tariff legislation. As matters stand Great Britain can not hold her own in competition with modern industrial nations.

ELOQUENT, BUT EMPTY.

In a sudden burst of generosity the House District committee adopted a resolution in favor of making Washington the foremost center for the development of child life throughout the world. On motion of Representative McLeod the committee called upon the District Commissioners to make a survey of conditions affecting the welfare of children in Washington. The committee wants to know what is necessary to make education and environment in Washington "conducive to the highest ultimate development of child life."

People of the District are rubbing their eyes and reading this resolution over and over in an effort to determine its meaning. It reads like a political speech. Does the committee actually intend to make this resolution its policy in dealing with the District in the future? Residents who have seen the District's schools neglected and the Health Department starved for years may be pardoned if they are skeptical.

It is significant that the resolution was adopted just after the committee had voted to appropriate $30,000 to feed undernourished school children. Is that the first step toward "the highest ultimate development?" Washington can feed its own school children without any help from Congress, but the city can not abolish the portable shacks in which hundreds of school children are housed, nor eliminate part time and overcrowded classes without the sanction of Congress. It is very convenient for the committee to fall into this generous mood when the District appropriations bill has been passed and the question of an equitable Federal contribution to the District budget has been temporarily laid aside.

In view of the attitude of the House in the past this resolution will be considered an empty gesture by a great majority of Washington people. Congress is in the last hours of a short session and few congressmen feel their responsibility. There will be plenty of time between now and next December to forget all about these lofty ideals expressed by Mr. McLeod. The people of the District would like to accept this resolution at its face value, but under the circumstances it appears to be only another evidence of the delirium incident to the ending of a session.

The fact that thirteen senators will not return to Washington next December shatters the old superstition.

PEGGING WHEAT PRICES

From the Wall Street Journal.

According to Secretary Hyde, the Farm Board is maintaining prices of wheat above world levels, the price at Chicago being relatively 35 cents above that of Liverpool. The Secretary is correct in this half statement of the case; there is such a spread in favor of this country, but if the cost were told this feat would appear to be another of the board's efforts that have turned out wrong.

Late in November the board pegged the price of wheat notwithstanding the fact that world supply was liberal and the United States had much wheat to sell. The pegged price has been maintained and one result has been to practically kill the export market upon which we depend for the disposal of our surplus wheat. When a price is once pegged it is a difficult matter to withdraw, and the board finds that it must support the market throughout the crop season which ends June 30. In the meantime it must steadily accumulate wheat, and the United States must go into the new crop year with a huge surplus, perhaps even larger than the one of a year ago.

This action has already been costly and disturbing to millers and dealers, but the operations after the end of June are likely to give much more trouble. In a free market the price of May and July wheat are relatively the same, and dealers and millers make the change from the end of the old crop to the beginning of the new without loss. But July wheat now is quoted in Chicago at 69 cents a bushel against 82 for May. The change from positions in the old crop to others in the new will be an expensive transaction, unless the board supports the July price and thus takes another crop year on its shoulders.

The board has already learned that when it once attempts to peg a price in the crop it must continue through the crop year. Naturally it will look upon the July price with the caution of the child that has once stuck its fingers in the fire. There will be an immense carryover, a large percentage of which will be in the hands of the board. This can not be sold in competition with the new crop unless there is a crop calamity to produce a shortage, so all of that investment must be locked up, and 18 cents carrying charges added to cost of every bushel of wheat carried a year. Even if the board wished to assume the burden, it is doubtful if it has the money to work with. If not, it would have to ask Congress for still more.

If the board decides to support the market, at what price will it peg July and September wheat? It has been continuously wrong on world conditions, and if it made another mistake this time, it would add still more to its accumulations and costs. Whichever way the board turns now, the penalty of price fixing must be paid, and it will not be a light one.

PREJUDICE.

He carried it around for years,
As though it were a thing to keep;
At night before he went to sleep
He'd take the old grudge by the ears
And shake it in his memory
That it was still alive to see.

A little wrong done long ago
By one who now could be his friend,
Yet he continued to the end
Remembering that trivial blow,
And waiting for a chance to strike
Again at him he didn't like.

His judgment narrowed to the core,
When others praised he turned aside
And to his foe all worth denied.
The little wrong of years before
Still lived with him and seemed to be
A wall past which he couldn't see.

It cripples reason, narrows sight,
And kills the subtle sense of right.

The Vermin-Ridden Starveling Is a Nobleman Lacking Three Generations of Opportunity.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WEALTH is the basis of all culture.

The unshorn and unwashed cutthroats who captured England in the dawn of modern history might have been pirates still except for the power to tax.

Abundance of money enabled them to live in luxury. They began to wash and learned to read. They developed table manners and an appreciation of the arts. They became gentlemen.

If you would refine a people, first make it prosperous. Men never develop the niceties of civilization until they are well fed.

Which is another way of saying that the superiority of the "best people" is merely a superiority of rations.

The "backward" part of America once boasted a degree of proud refinement never since excelled. Its culture was a product of money got without sweat.

At the zenith of its pride and glory, it was destroyed by war. Its adventurous and ambitious youth died on the battlefield or went away to find fortune in another land when the battles were over.

Those who were left began the rebuilding of their land without money or credit or freedom.

Children of the next generation used molasses for sweetening and considered wheat bread a rare luxury. Many of them never wore shoes until they were grown. They had little time or opportunity for schooling. They were building a civilization from the ground up.

Poverty they might have overcome in a generation, but there were other handicaps.

Malaria and typhoid fever found them easy prey.

Their soil was acrawl with a miscroscopic enemy brought from Africa—an enemy that penetrated their bare feet, made its way to their digestive tracts and there lodged to destroy them. It was called hookworm. It made children seem dried-up old men and women at the age of twelve. It robbed its older victims of all energy. It whipped a rural civilization.

Then another enemy appeared—a disease called pellagra. It was a diet disease—a product of malnutrition. It finished the victims of hookworm and made invalids of thousands more.

Poverty; improper food; disease; poverty.

In spite of these handicaps, towns and cities have caught up with civilization and become typical of America.

The rural sections remain "backward"—undernourished, little schooled, improgressive—held down by want of money.

Certain critics delight to express their scorn of these unfortunates. You would think, to read their words of contempt, that they were made of superior clay.

But the difference is one of environment and food—nothing more. The fat and famous critic is merely a hill-billy with a full stomach.

It isn't generous to ridicule a man because he came home from the wars with a limp.

PRO AND CON

Confirmation of Eugene Meyer.

New York Times.

Confirmation of Mr. Eugene Meyer to be governor of the Federal Reserve Board, by the overwhelming vote in the Senate of 72 to 11, is a good thing both in itself and in its implications. It secures a highly qualified man for a highly important position. No one has successfully challenged Mr. Meyer's knowledge or vigor or integrity. It has been evident for some time that the Senate believed him admirably fitted to the office for which he had been named.

More than once the President has invited citizens of prominence and achievement to undertake public work, but has not been able to persuade them to run the gauntlet of small-minded and suspicious senatorial inquisitors. Now that Mr. Meyer has come through so triumphantly, he may encourage others to face the trial with philosophy and equanimity. Moreover, Mr. Meyer will have made it easier for the next man of his kind.

Detroit News.

An interesting pair of figures in the news now are Mr. Fess, the Smedley Butler, of the G. O. P. committee, and Gen. Butler, the Simeon Fess of the Marine Corps.

And With Good Fishin'.

Milwaukee Journal.

Probably Mr. Hoover's conception of Utopia is a country without a Congress.

Politics—That's All.

Indianapolis News.

It would be interesting to know how many men there are either in Congress or our own legislature whose thoughts are not largely of next year and its election, whose votes and actions are not determined by those thoughts. A recent writer, speculating on the present confusion in legislative circle, which is so painfully obvious, attributes it to the desire and endeavor to make political capital, and to store up campaign material that will be available next year. It certainly does look that way—in both State and Nation. If all this is true, the campaign of 1932 has already begun.

Discretionary Law Observance.

Topeka Capital.

A Columbia University professor of law—of law, you observe—says that President Hoover's idea that all laws should be enforced is "childish." Some laws, he says, manifestly ought not to be either observed or enforced. This is interesting. But, to be sure, legislatures in enacting laws might append a final clause: "This law should probably be observed and enforced." And in other cases: "This is a law that the less it is observed and enforced, the better."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Sixteenth Street Reservoir Should Be Made Shallow Wading Pool for Children.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Several weeks ago the reservoir on Sixteenth street was filled with water to a depth of a foot or two for the purpose of affording recreation to ice skaters in case of cold weather.

Recently there has been some discussion over the future fate of this unused reservoir. Some suggest making a playground for children out of it, while others think it would be better to turn it into a sunken garden. The sunken garden idea seems foolish, as very few people passing by would know such a garden existed.

Every summer hundreds of youngsters, small tots, play in the pools in different parks. It is impossible for them to wade or play in Rock Creek, as the water is polluted and dangerous to their health. Hence they must turn to the waters in the different park fountains, but when they are discovered cavorting around in the pools the park police run them away.

Since the Sixteenth Street Reservoir has steps built for the purpose of descending to the bottom, I think it should be flooded with a foot or so of water in summer for the purpose of providing the kiddies an opportunity to wade and splash around and have "lots of fun." A playground guardian could be stationed there for the purpose of insuring the safety of the children. C. C. PARSONS.

Arkansas Alarmed by Rumored Withdrawal of Red Cross on March 1.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: On the 1st of March the American Red Cross will quit helping the destitute in the drought-stricken regions. That is at least 30 days too soon. Not more than one-half of the people will be aided by money that will be borrowed by those that are fortunate enough to have collateral to put up for loans until cotton chopping time. The merchants can not help if they would. Please tell the waiting thousands if you can why this is to be. People are needing clothing, food and medicine, yet the Red Cross is going to withdraw. People are asking each other, What will we do after the 1st of March? Indeed, what will they do?

A bridge is only good as far as it goes across a stream. It it does not reach the other shore then it is inadequate for the purpose. This Red Cross bridge does not reach a safe landing. A man or woman, boy or girl, will get just as hungry in March as they did in January or February. They will get cold without sufficient clothing. A hole in their clothing will show the skin in March as same as in January. Yet, "the mother of all," the great American Red Cross, is folding its tents and silently stealing away, why? J. L. BAKER.

Urges President to Veto Muscle Shoals Resolution.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: On this anniversary of the birth of the Father of His Country, I urge the President to treat the Muscle Shoals bill as his great predecessor in his childhood treated a cherry tree. He can do it with his little veto ax.

If there was a shortage of food in the country and that shortage was due to a scarcity of fertilizer or the high price of fertilizer, no bugaboo of socialism would prevent my wholehearted indorsement of a new Government enterprise. But no such condition exists. Private enterprise has handled a big job well and should be permitted to continue.

I am not one to shy at the spending of the taxpayers' money when I feel that for the little of it that was mine the country is getting adequate return, whether the return be in public improvements or jobs for the jobless, but for the Government at any time to undertake work that can be done as well or better by private enterprise is not only false economics but wholly mischievous.

Baumes Law Applies Only to Habitual Criminals.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Many people are opposed to the Baumes law because it often happens that a criminal is sent to jail for life for mere theft. The opponents to this law base their opposition on the fact that the criminal is given life imprisonment for the theft of something not possessing much value. This is a mistaken idea. The criminal is not sent to prison on the basis of the value of the article that was last stolen. It is the fourth offender who suffers under this law. When convicted under the Baumes law it is not merely to punish him for the last offense. He is given life imprisonment because he is a habitual criminal. Those who criticize the Baumes law would have no foundations for their criticisms if they interpreted this law as it should be interpreted; that is, life imprisonment for the incurable habitual criminal.

Signs That Depression Is Disappearing.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is evident that the worst of the depression is over. There are certain outstanding facts which indicate that this is true. Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, says that the daily number of those fed in New York through her organization has dropped from 50,000 to 35,000 in the past few weeks and the trend is steadily downward. Then too, the New York exporters are adding to their staffs of foreign travelers. They want experienced men to carry their lines to Latin-American and Far Eastern markets. Not the least significant sign of the depression waning is the stock market, which is regarded as an excellent barometer. It has been slowly but steadily rising lately, and this is a very good sign that "Old Man Depression" is in retreat. ALFRED SANDBOY.

$30,000,000 VOTED TO MODERNIZE NAVY

House Passes Bill Approved by Senate to Renovate Three Battleships.

(Associated Press.)

The naval construction program laid aside, big navy advocates succeeded yesterday in obtaining by a vote of 205 to 68 House approval of a bill to authorize $30,000,000 to modernize three battleships.

The measure already had been passed by the Senate and now awaits the President's signature. Work on these battleships—the New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho—will complete modernization authorized by the Washington naval conference.

With the $30,000,000 the Navy plans to decrease the possibility of damage to battleships from airplane and submarine attacks. The modernization will include elevation of the gun turrets to increase range, addition of "blisters" on the sides as a submarine defense, reinstallation of fire control systems, improvement of oil burning equipment and the addition of new antiaircraft batteries which naval experts contend will keep slow bombing planes 5,000 yards from the vessel.

The House action came after a vigorous contest by opponents. Representatives French, Idaho, and LaGuardia, New York, Republicans, led the opposition.

Mr. French asserted the United States spent more money annually on its Navy than any other nation, and that the "tendency is against the battleship for two other highly important factors—submarines and airplanes."

Chairman Britten, of the House naval committee insisted, however, the recent Panama maneuvers had shown the battleship was still the mainstay of the fleet.

Priest Is Located After Wide Hunt

Rev. Francis Clougherty, Sought Since January 18, Found in Pittsburgh.

Toledo, Ohio, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The Rev. Francis Clougherty, priest of the Benedictine order, for whom a Nation-wide search was begun last Saturday when friends in Detroit reported him missing, was located in the home of his sister in Pittsburgh today.

He insisted he had not been missing, that he had been in Pittsburgh for a week and that he had not been in Toledo for ten months. He described the report of his disappearance here January 18 as a "case of mistaken identity."

Father Clougherty, who is chancellor of the Catholic University in Peiping, China, sails Saturday night for Rome.

U.S. Refuses to Furnish Head of Arms Parley

Geneva, Feb. 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The League of Nations was informed today that Washington refuses absolutely to accept the questionable honor of furnishing a president for the general disarmament conference to be held early next year.

Hugh Wilson, United States Minister to Switzerland, conferred today with Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league, explaining personally his activities during the recent meeting of the league council and enumerating the reasons why the United States prefers to keep aloof from political bickerings regarding the presidency.

Tariffs Proposed to Aid Europe's Grain Growers

Paris, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Preferential tariffs to benefit European grain-producing countries were proposed today by the Jugoslavian delegation in behalf of the Danubian states at an international conference to consider means of disposing of future harvests.

Andre Francois-Poncet, the chairman, suggested in opening today's meeting it might be effective to arrange some such international agreement regarding wheat as that recently negotiated in the sugar industry.

NEW FIGHT ON OVER "BLAKE MILLIONS"

Massachusetts Woman in London Court Seeking Right to Sue.

London, Feb. 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The first round in the fight of Mrs. Annie Murtha Minahan, of Charleston, Mass., for the so-called Blake millions—one of those mysterious gigantic sums of money supposed to be held in chancery here awaiting the claim of the rightful heirs—opened in chancery court today when argument was heard on whether Mrs. Minahan has a right to sue to the crown for the money.

Justice Maugham reserved judgment after Sir Stafford Cripps, solicitor general, on behalf of the crown, stated that the claimant was prevented from suing by operation of the statute of limitations. Attorneys for Mrs. Minahan, who came here a year ago to prosecute her claim, contended that this was a case in which the statute did not apply.

Popular tradition has credited the Blake millions with totaling anywhere from $5,000,000 to $45,000,000. Sir Stafford told the court today that the money involved amounted to only about £75,000 ($364,500).

Seventh Case Concerned.

Today's case is the seventh one concerned with the estate of Mrs. Helen Sheridan Blake, an Irishwoman who lived in London, widow of Gen. Robert Dudley Blake, who died in 1876. All previous claims to the fortune have been held groundless because of lack of documentary proof of descent.

"This matter has given rise to a great deal of interest not only in this country and in Ireland, but also in America," said Sir Stafford today in presenting the argument for the crown. "It will no doubt be a merciful act on the part of your lordship if once and for all people can be convinced that the 'Blake millions' do not exist, or that if they do, the crown has a right to them now which can not be challenged."

Advances Her Right.

Mrs. Minahan advanced her right to sue for the money as the legal and personal representative of William Leonard, who was the grandson of May Anne Kane, a grandchild of a paternal aunt of Helen Blake. Miss Ella Leonard is here with Mrs. Minahan.

The crown alleged today that the points raised by the suppliant have already been decided by the court of appeal here in the case known as the "L'Epine Millions"—when it was held that the statute of limitations applied.

Sir Stafford told the court that of the Blake money of roughly $370,000 the crown had paid $100,000 as an act of grace to persons named in a document of the late Mrs. Blake and that the rest of the money was paid into the British consolidated fund.

MUSSOLINI IS TOLD OF NAVY PACT PLAN

Hope for Full Accord Now Is Expected Tomorrow, Experts Say.

Rome, Feb. 26. (A.P.).—British and Italian naval experts spent six hours today shuffling paper warships from category to category in their search for a settlement satisfactory to Italy or Franco-Italian naval differences.

In the meantime the British foreign minister, Arthur Henderson, and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, who headed the British peacemaking mission, called on Premier Mussolini and discussed the pending settlement with him. It was understood that they acquainted him thoroughly with the terms of the provisional accord reached between France and England and adhesion to which by Italy will bring the two continental powers into the treaty signed at London last year.

Work of the technicians will continue tomorrow, but this had been expected, and officials intimated that nothing discouraging had developed during the day. As a result, hope that a full accord would be reached before the British mission leaves Saturday became almost an expectation among the well informed.

Mr. Henderson and Mr. Alexander planned to do a little sightseeing tomorrow, but the former will confer with Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, in the morning, and in the evening they will review the work which the experts may have finished by that time.

Signor Grandi was host tonight at an official dinner in honor of the British negotiators.

Grand Exalted Ruler Lawrence H. Rupp, of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will be welcomed on his official visit to Washington tonight by more than 600 members of the order from Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia, in addition to a vast representation of Washington Elks.

The lodges from out of town will bring with them more than 100 candidates for initiation into the order. The Washington Lodge will be represented by about 1,000 of its members, and the Boys' Band of 60 pieces will present a two-hour concert.

Members of the Senate and House, the Army, Navy and Marine Corps and representatives of official Washington will attend the reception, which will be held at the Elks Home, 919 H street northwest.

(Associated Press.)

The invitation was read to the Senate yesterday at the request of Senator Pess, of Ohio. Mr. Hoes is a great great grandson of the fifth President.

Mine Groups Fail To Reach Accord

Two Organizations Battle to Gain Control in Illinois Area.

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Attempts to settle differences between factions of the International Mine Workers of America out of court failed, at least temporarily, today.

Delegates representing the international union of which John L. Lewis is head and the Illinois faction, an insurgent organization led by Harry Fishwick and Alex Howat, returned to their homes after a two day's secret conference today.

Difficulties of the unions dates back to last March when Alexander Howat and Harry Fishwick, bolters from the ranks of the Illinois group controlled by Lewis, organized an insurgent body and assumed the name United Mine Workers of America by which Lewis' union also was known. Since then both factions have been embroiled in court actions over control of the Illinois district.

King, Queen Of Siam Plan Brilliant Tour

Will Travel Incognito in U. S., Staying Some Time in Capital.

ADDING glamour to the forthcoming visit of the King and Queen of Siam to Washington in April will be the inclusion in the party of Mom Rajavongs Smaksman Kridakara, nephew of the Minister of Siam. The young man, who will act as private secretary to the king, will be making his first visit to America.

During their sojourn in Washington, the king and queen and members of their party will be feted at dinner by the Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson, who have been unable as yet to choose a date owing to the uncertainty of the itinerary of the royal visitors.

An impressive suite will accompany the royal visitors to this country for the two months' visit planned by the king and queen. In addition to Queen Rambai-barni and her parents, Prince and Princess Svasti, Prince Chirasakdi, a cousin of the king, will be included in the party as well as eight attendants. They are Gen. Chao-PhyaBijayendr, chief aid de camp general; Rear Admiral Mom-Chao-Thavara Chayent, physician in ordinary; Mme. Thavara Chayant, lady in waiting; Mom-Chao Vipulya Svastikula, private secretary; Maj. Prasobsri Chirapravati, aid de camp, who will join the party in Vancouver, and Phra Noraraj, chamberlain. The last number of the household is Luang Sirisombati, treasurer of the household.

Due to the character of the visit, the king and queen will travel incognito as Prince and Princess Sukhothai. They will land at Vancouver April 17, where they will be met by a delegation headed by the Siamese Minister.

While in Washington the party will be housed at the Larz Anderson house, on Massachusetts avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson embarked shortly after Christmas on an extended cruise around the world. Always interested in civic and philanthropic endeavor, the graceful gesture made by Mrs. Anderson in offering her spacious residence to the Government crowns similar courtesies which she has extended in the past. Both Belgian and Japanese missions were put up at the Anderson house in days gone by, enjoying, although as guests of the Government, the hospitality of the wife of a distinguished former diplomat, who had served as Minister to Belgium and as Ambassador to Japan.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, incidentally, will visit in Siam, as well as Indo-China and other glamorous regions, in the course of their lengthy trip abroad. In spite of their absence from Washington, the Andersons, who spend only a short time each season here, keep their home in perfect running order. It is always completely staffed. State Department officials, who have to do with the entertainment of distinguished visitors, are always delighted when the Anderson house is placed at their disposal.

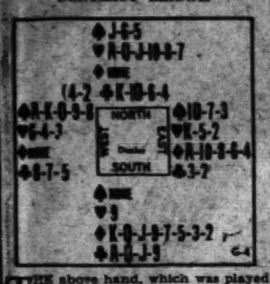
WORK ON BRIDGE

CONTRACT BRIDGE.



THE above hand, which was played in a social game of Contract Bridge in Philadelphia recently, produced a most remarkable situation. In actual play, South, thinking it best to bid for game and preempt simultaneously, called five Diamonds, which East doubled. There were various ways in which the hand might have been bid, but all sound methods would produce the same result. A six-Diamond bid would not have been justified.

When the hand was played, West led a Spade, which South ruffed. South then led the King of Diamonds and was horrified to find the five outstanding Diamonds all held by East, who ducked the first Diamond trick by playing the Four on it. South then led the Queen of Diamonds, and this time East won with the Ace and led another Spade, which South trumped. South now led a Heart, and North won with the Ace and followed with the Queen of Hearts, on which East played the King. If East had held up the King, South would not have ruffed; but the King of Hearts called for a third ruff by South, reducing his trumps to exactly the number held by East.

To trick 5 South led the Queen of Clubs, winning in dummy with the King. That was followed by a good Heart from dummy, South discarding the Ace of Clubs; and then another winning Heart, which East ruffed and South overruffed. Dummy was put in the lead a second time with Clubs, this time the Nine being led and the Ten taking the trick, and another Heart followed. East now was in a hopeless position. As a matter of fact, he trumped; South overruffed and made twelve tricks in spite of Ace-Ten and three small trumps in one adverse hand.

East might have saved one trick by holding up the Ace of trumps a second time or by discarding a Club instead of ruffing dummy's Heart at trick 9, but he could not have defeated the declaration he had doubled.

Your Name
WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph.D.

ONE of the most numerous of all Irish family names is "Dougherty." It occurs with a great number of variations, some of them being "Dogherty," "Doherty," and "Docherty." It is the modern form of the original Irish "O Dochartaigh" which means "the descendant of Dochartach." "Dochartach" means "hurtful" and "disobliging."

The family name "Bayer" is of German origin. It is merely a variation of "Baier," and therefore means "the man from Bavaria."

The family name "Burnside" is common in Scotland and England. It is of English origin, and its full significance is "he who lives at the side of a brook." It does not seem to be found in the earliest English records. A London church register of the year 1751 records the marriage of John Burnside and Sarah Button.

It may be observed that of all the personal names which have formed the basis for family names the great majority are names of men. However, every European language has a few family names which are based on the names of women. Such names are called metronymics, that is, mothers' names. One of the very few Irish metronymics is "Darney" which means "the descendant of Doireann." "Doireann" is a woman's name which means "sullen."

The family name "Rafter" is of Celtic origin, its ultimate source being the Irish "O Reachtabhra" meaning "the descendant of Reachtabhra." "Reachtabhra" was an old personal name composed of the words "reacht" meaning "law" and "decree," and "abhra," meaning "fringe" and "border." The commonest variations of this name are "Wrafter" and "Raftis."

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Ray Sermon

PEACOCKS ARE UNLUCKY
JUNO, THE ROMAN GODDESS WAS NOTORIOUS FOR HER ABILITY TO FASCINATE WITH THE EVIL EYE. THE PEACOCK WAS SACRED TO HER AND SHE IS SAID TO HAVE PLACED THE NUMEROUS EYES IN THE TAIL FEATHERS OF THESE GORGEOUS BIRDS TO ASSIST HER IN BRINGING EVIL TO THOSE SHE DISLIKED.
BARMECIDE FEAST
AN OLD STORY TELLS HOW BARMECIDE, A PRINCE OF BAGDAD, INVITED A BEGGAR TO A FEAST AND OFFERED HIM ONLY IMAGINARY DISHES. BARMECIDE PRETENDED TO PARTAKE OF THESE AND TO ENJOY THEM IMMENSELY. THIS STORY HAS GIVEN US THE EXPRESSION "A BARMECIDE FEAST" TO INDICATE AN ILLUSION OF PLENTY.
CAVE CANEM
BEWARE THE DOG
NEARLY ALL ROMAN HOUSES KEPT DOGS CHAINED NEAR THEIR DOORWAYS, OR HAD A PICTURE OF ONE PAINTED ON THE WALL. THESE ALWAYS BORE THE WARNING: CAVE CANEM (BEWARE THE DOG).

Jane Interprets the Mode

A chic little tweed suit, and a one-piece tweed dress trimmed simply with tortoise shell buttons. (Courtesy of Molyneux, Paris.)

Paris, Feb. 26.

SHE'S a famous jewelry designer and manufacturer, and she positive-ly will not bother with journalists, as we newspaper creatures are called over here in Paris. But once in a blue moon she will sit down and write me a letter, and if she's in the mood she'll tell me something about what the jewelry world is up to.

Here's the last "word" from the jewelry world. "We are bringing out models in straw, in combinations of several bright colors to be worn with beach pajamas. For sport wear, the styles are greatly influenced by the forthcoming French Colonial Exposition. They are made in woods, metals and leather, combined or by themselves. Also many of the models are 'art moderne.' For evening the models are made in the spirit of real jewelry, also showing the influence of modernism. Lap lazuli, jade, coral, crystal and other semiprecious stones are combined with strasse, baguettes or dull silver. Pendants, collarettes and heavy plaited ropes are replacing the simpler bead necklaces of the past."

You either wear lots of tricky jewelry, you see, and a very simple gown, or you wear very few choice and delicate pieces of real jewelry on any kind of a gown you wish.

And, of course, as to the decidedly novelty jewelry such as that which is influenced by the Exposition of the French Colonies which will open in Paris in May, one only wears this for the short time of the duration of the fad unless, as is rarely the case, they have an intrinsic value as objects of art or beauty of their own.

• • • •

It's the grandest idea and I wish I had thought of it before so that you could have started earlier. But I just got mine, too! Of yes, it's a three-way hat, isn't that clever? One lone bonnet which will become three distinct bonnets whenever you wish—and all worked out for you in the simplest way imaginable for you to make all for your ownself. It's a Dahray new leaflet, so you better send the self-addressed and stamped envelope to Dare, care The Washington Post, at once, because spring afternoons will soon be here and you just must make yourself three hats—no, I mean a hat a la Dare!

Nobody but Molyneux would dare offer a Haut Couture model of such startling simplicity—or rather models—as I have sketched for you today. Wouldn't you like to take a walk through Central Park in either the suit trimmed with loops of tweed or the dress smartly trimmed in tortoise shell?

• • • •

Patou is showing a "collier" made of chenille studded with strasse, and when Patou shows a "collier" in his collection you may be pretty sure that it will be something of a feature. A "collier," in case you don't know, is an elaborate unusually fantastic necklace, so elaborate that no other jewelry ought to be worn with it. This particular one that Patou is showing is made of very thick twisted strands of chenille with strasse scattered over it. It has a long tassel of chenille, each strang of which ends in a cluster of strasse. The tassel is worn in the back for evening and reaches about half way down the back. It can be removed when the necklace is worn with an afternoon frock.

Dare's weekly fashion letter always is worth looking for, we feel. So look for it in the big Sunday Post each week.

Au revoir.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

LAST Sunday night the Belasco had an opening—"Better Times." Intimate review—which still occupies the boards there. This Sunday night the National will welcome a musical comedy, a new one, "Making Mary," and there will be no opposition, for the Belasco will be closed the first four days of the week, getting ready for Al Jolson's home-coming, on Thursday, March 5.

• • • •

Several years have gone by the boards since Al Jolson visited his old home town and played on a local stage. That was at Poli's. Now he comes back, after long service in the movies, and brings with him the continental success, "The Wonder Bar," a piece so elaborate that carpenters must, perforce, change the entire appearance of the Belasco Theater, on the inside, making it into a night club.

• • • •

"The Wonder Bar" will be produced by Morris Gest. That means something. Morris Gest is the man who brought over the Moscow Art Players, who gave to America Balieff and his Chauve Souris, that inimitable Russian vaudeville, and who turned the old Century Theater, New York, into a veritable cathedral to house "The Miracle." He is doing something along the same lines, though totally different, with "The Wonder Bar." When that piece, which leaves here next Saturday night, opens in New York it will find the Nora Bayes Theater turned into an emporium of cabaret.

• • • •

Mr. Stoddard Taylor, not opening his house until Thursday of next week, after the closing here tomorrow night of "Better Times," looks forward to a land-office business; for Al Jolson used to pack old Poli's Theater to the rafters—and what he can not do, in the way of filling the Belasco, ought to be nobody's business.

• • • •

Dorothy Goff, otherwise known as Miss Universe, is one of the featured players in "Making Mary," the new musical comedy coming here next week. At present it is having its try-out in Pittsburgh, and dispatches from that town say "Everything will be lovely and the goose honking high when 'Making Mary' makes Maryland and the District of Columbia." It will have a week in Baltimore on the way to New York, if present plans carry.

• • • •

Tomorrow night marks the last performance of "The Lonely Way," not only in the National Theater, but for all other cities this season. New York will not see it at all. Another play, scheduled to fill dates of "The Lonely Way" outside of New York, will be put into rehearsal on Monday. Various reasons are given for the closing of Arthur Schnitzler's play—some of them having to do with the utter morbidness of its thematic content. "Bob" Sisk, press representative for the Guild, states that Tom Powers' broken leg is the cause. During rehearsals Mr. Powers, remembered as the king in "The Apple Cart," fell and broke an ankle bone. It was expected that he would be able to resume his role for the Cincinnati and Chicago engagements of the play, but no—and so another production goes to the storehouse.

• • • •

This Saturday night will be a memorable one in local theatrical circles. The revue at the Belasco, "Better Times," also hits the dust. It just didn't seem to have the pulling power—and yet, and yet, as Sam Bernard used to say "it just missed a little bit." Some fine entertainers are going to be set loose on an unsuspecting world when the cast at the Belasco and the cast at the National bid goodbye to their moorings tomorrow night, and make trains for Broadway.

• • • •

When Wanda Lyon comes back to town next week as a featured player in "The Wonder Bar," at the Belasco Theater, her many Washington admirers will be on hand to welcome her. She played here as leading lady in three stock companies; first, with George Marshall's thespians, then with Garry McGarry's troupers, and later with the Henry Duffy Players; which gave her residence in three theaters—the old Garrick, the Belasco, and the President. Her outstanding hit was in "Getting Gertie's Garter," which Mr. Marshall put on—or took off—in the Belasco, with Mr. Charles McClintock as house manager and property man. How time flies!

• • • •

Two Shaw plays are on their way, one for next season and one for this, and both to be produced by the Theater Guild. They are: "Getting Married," and "Captain Brassbound's Conversion."

• • • •

What Today Means to You

"PISCES."

IF February 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to noon, from 3 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. and from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 1 p. m. to 2:15 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m.

February 27 promises to be a day of moods. At one moment your hopes will be at blood heat the next they will at zero. Only usual work should be pursued, and no decision involving any issue of importance should be taken. Correct mental perspective will be conspicuous by its absence.

Children born on this February 27 will be stalwart and vigorous, have sunny natures, full of mischief and bubbling over with "pep." As they mature their restless energy will stand them in good stead, and will carry them forward to the glory of achievement.

Your horoscope, if you were born on February 27, does not indicate any dazzling victories or great disasters. It prognosticates an ordinary life of an ordinary person on a path of comparative ease and relative comfort. You are not marked out for any of life's great prizes, nor are you singled out for any of life's tragedies.

Your character is simple, your mind is not a curious one, and you are willing to accept the teachings of the past. You possess much faith and little inquisitiveness. There is a religious streak in you and you try your utmost to live according to the beliefs in which you were reared.

Your temper is always under control and you possess the gift of "poise." It is almost impossible to get you "off your guard." Your manners are the result of early environment and are immutable. You have no outstanding personality and you are one of a crowd in any social gathering. You are not a student, but can do several things fairly well. Your social accomplishments are more in evidence than the ability to startle the world. Punctuality and punctiliousness are virtues that you possess.

In your home life you will be amenable, affectionate and loyal. Your attachments, like your manners, never change.

Lecture and Pictures To Describe Sea Hawk

The "sea hawk," one of the world's largest birds of prey, will be described and shown in motion pictures to members of the National Geographic Society at the Washington Auditorium tonight by Capt. C. W. R. Knight, British authority on eagles and hawks.

The sea hawk has been extinct in the British Isles for more than 20 years, therefore Capt. Knight had to cross the Atlantic to complete his studies at the bird sanctuary on Gardiner's Island, New York. Slow motion pictures taken by Capt. Knight will reveal intimate bits in the lives of the huge hawks, some of which have a wing spread of more than 6 feet.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

LAWN MAKING time will soon be here. Do not be satisfied merely to take a rake, break the surface of the soil and sow some seed and then think that the rest will take care of itself. Such a procedure is a waste of time and will only lead to disappointment. Accomplishment in this world means work, and the lawn is no exception.

The rules for lawn making are neither hard no intricate. If your plot is small dig it to the depth of one foot, or, better still, one foot and a half. If large, plow it.

Next, pulverize the soil thoroughly with a harrow or long-toothed rake, making it as fine as possible. It is better to plow or rake when the soil is moist than when it is dry. When properly fine, apply a dressing of pulverized sheep manure, shredded cow manure or pure bonemeal. All these fertilizers are weedless. Raw barnyard manure is apt to introduce weed growth.

Of any of these fertilizers 1,000 pounds per acre is the right amount. An acre contains 43,560 square feet. If you have a small city plot, you can work out the amount you will require from the above figures.

Lawn seed can be sown at various times of the year. The most favorable time in most parts of the country is from March 15 until May 1 and from August until November.

Choose a cloudy day to sow your seed. Never attempt to do it when the wind is blowing. Some landscape authorities recommend mixing the seed with four times its bulk in pulverized sheep manure. The sheep manure acts as an assurance for a more even distribution of the seed. This means a better germination and a healthier young growth.

With a new lawn, occasional applications of sheep manure are splendid, but for the established lawn it is better to use a top dressing of sheep manure at the rate of 1,000 pounds per ac , and a month later an application of bonemeal at the rate of 300 pounds to the acre.

The food in a lawn is soon exhausted and if not supplied through the surface the lawn will soon suffer.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly or in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

THE FUN OF SAVING.

DEAR FRANCES M'DONALD: We all read your sayings every evening and decided we had something to say and hope you may feel it worth printing. It is about the present difficult times and how we met the situation.

I guess no family was hit any harder than we were. Dad and Mother were the first to feel it, for Dad, after 30 years in one job, was laid off. He had never lost a day so you can imagine he could not believe it. We had all married and been getting along. Well, one after the other got it. Three husbands out of work. We tried to manage without help, but at last we had to give up our homes and three sons and their wives are all living together in Dad's home. Plus five children. If you think that is easy you do not know human nature.

Here's what we did. We held a meeting. Formed a company. Put in stock to tide the B—— family over the rocks. Thus we conserved what money remained. One roof instead of four. All the men showed instant relief and the women all agreed that no argument or comment would ever be started or noticed if started. This was all written out and posted.

The children were told that they must now consider others in all their acts. They have responded nobly. Two of the daughters-in-law were able to find part-time jobs and as it happened they both had children, the care of the children devolved upon and was assumed by the others. After six months it would be hard to find a more united crowd. Before troubles came to us we were a bit divided. Lived in different sections of the city. Occupied with different interests. Even the children were not very pally. Now it is all for all.

At night games and studies and plans for the coming day. Now that times are better all look forward with regret to the end of what proved a "noble experiment." Four families under one roof and around one table. Try that on your own piano. But for us it worked and it would for others, too, if gone about in the same way—forming a company to finance the family as a whole. As things pick up each will be repaid and each pay.

Meanwhile we have learned the value of a dollar and the fun of saving. We even made our own bread—ten loaves a day. And we had one coal bill instead of four. The hardest part was learning—if you will pardon the expression—to mind our own business and refrain from comment on the other fellow's. But we learned. If the children fought we told them that was their affair. No sides taken. No feuds. Any quarrel among the children resulted in early bed for all.

It has been a great winter, for mother. Having us near has meant a lot to her. They would have lost the home if we had not come and on the other hand, the home was a haven for us.

Perhaps you may not feel that this is very singular, but we feel that such a year as this will go down in history and we almost went down with it—and feel grateful for the way that let us out. DAUGHTER-IN-LAW.

And we are delighted to publish what may prove helpful to others who find their holdings threatened. The whole idea is original and well worth the thought of those who have been worrying over helping the old folks and at the same time weathering their own storm.

If the stressful times during which we have just been passing accomplished nothing else, they have taught millions the value of the dollar put by for the rainy day. And that was a lesson sorely needed by those millions.

Take no chances—
Specify Kotex
for lasting sanitary protection

FOR true comfort, true ease of mind, your sanitary protection must be secure, well-fitted, soft and dainty. Kotex gives you just that sort of protection.

Kotex absorbs, not in one concentrated spot, but over the entire surface. Yet the protective edges remain dry and comfortable for hours. You've no idea what a difference that makes.

It can be worn on either side with the very same protection, the same comfort, for it is equally absorbent on either side.

Hospitals use quantities of Kotex. They recognize its superiority. Doctors and nurses recommend this modern sanitary protection and women who have once used it never go back to other methods.

It is disposable, as you know, easily and quickly. It deodorizes. It is adjustable. All stores have it.

BUNDESEN DELAYS FILING FOR MAYOR

Chicago Health Officer Not Yet Decided to Run as Independent.

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The starter's gun for the five weeks' race toward the mayoralty was cocked and ready tonight but the runners awaited the closing of entries.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Democratic coroner, withheld further participation in the campaign after mailing thousands of letters announcing his decision to run as an independent. He was, he said, awaiting the verdict he asked of the "fathers and mothers" of Chicago on his appeal for support.

Mayor William Hale Thompson, renominated in the Republican primary, left for Washington to appear before a House committee with a report of the recent flood-control congress here. Afterward he will resume health treatments at Mount Clemens, Mich., before plunging into the finale of the campaign preceding the April 7 election.

Prof. Charles E. Merriam, head of the political science department at the University of Chicago and a candidate for mayor 20 years ago, issued a statement interpreting the primary results as "showing plainly the people of Chicago want a change in the city hall." Prof. Merriam pointed to the 296,000 votes for Mayor Thompson against 585,000 cast for "a new deal" under Cermak, Lyle or Albert" as evidence of desire for change.

"I have known Mr. Cermak (Anton J. Cermak, Democratic nominee) for some twenty years and I am confident he would give Chicago an administration decidedly better than we have now," he stated. "It is to be hoped that an independent candidate will not be brought in."

The Daily News, of which Dr. Bundesen is health editor, published a report today that Thompson partisans were interested in the petition filed yesterday by the "people's non-partisan ticket" nominating Bundesen for mayor. Dr. Bundesen said today he had not authorized use of his name.

Income Tax Facts

NO. 26.

The cost of capital assets, such as building and machinery, less depreciation and salvage, may be deducted from gross income if their use in business suddenly is terminated.

Usually such assets must be sold or otherwise disposed of in order to claim a loss. However, there is an exception. If, for example, property has been discarded by reason of some unforeseen cause, such as change in the manufacture of a product to which machinery is especially devoted, or where new legislation makes the continued profitable use of the property impossible, the taxpayer need not have parted permanently with the property in order to claim a loss. But if use of property was abandoned because of depreciation obsolescence, the taxpayer must have parted permanently with it if a loss is claimed.

Loss due to the voluntary removal or demolition of old buildings, the scrapping of old machinery, equipment, &c., due to renewals or replacements, is deductible. But if a taxpayer buys, as the site of a new building, land upon which an old building is located, demolition of the old building is not considered a loss and therefore is not deductible. The value of the real estate, exclusive of the old improvements, is presumed to be equal to the purchase price of the land and building plus the cost of removing the useless buildings.

CAPONE'S ILLNESS CITED IN DEFENSE

Chicago Gangster Fights Contempt Charges; Judge Suspects Lying.

Girl Reporter Called 'Beautiful' by Capone

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—A girl reporter approached Al Capone in timid fashion during court recess today, and after gulping once, or twice, stuttered out her name.

Capone arose and bowed gallantly.

"I was supposed to ask you a question," she said, "but I can't think of what it was.

Capone stood smiling.

"Oh, I know," said the girl. "What do you think of the American girl?"

"I think you're beautiful," said Capone. The girl retired in confusion.

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The ailments of Al Capone two years ago were the subject of clinical examination today in the court of Federal Judge James H. Wilkinson as the gang leader's contempt of court hearing neared its end.

Probing into the month of January, 1929, defense witnesses, doctors and nurses said the scarfaced one was perilously ill—in some danger of dying.

Assistant District Attorney Jacob I. Grossman brought the Government X-ray to bear in his final argument, which was interrupted by adjournment for the day, and reported that if Capone actually was sick, he soon got over it and suffered no bad effects from pursuing southland pleasures in and around his Miami Beach home.

Illness Is Questioned.

Capone's illness was given as a reason why he should not be called upon to come up to Chicago in March, 1929, to testify before a grand jury. The Government's attempt to have him cited for contempt is based on the allegation that the gangster was not seriously ill, but was attending races, fights and taking trips.

Capone was the cynosure again today as he sat calmly chewing gum at the counsel table, but those who edged their way in after it was reported the gangster would take the stand himself were disappointed. The defense closed its case after two doctors and two nurses had told of treating Capone early in 1929.

So far as the testimony was concerned, the case hinged on the question: Where was Al Capone on January 17, 18 and 19 of 1929? Three police officers stationed at the Hialeah race track near Miami had testified for the Government yesterday that they saw the gang chief at the track on those days. All four defense witnesses stated positively that he was in bed on those days and in no condition to walk, let alone go to a race track.

Miami Doctor Testifies.

The principal defense witness was Dr. Kenneth Phillips, of Miami, who signed an affidavit in 1929 to the effect that Capone had been confined to his bed for six weeks and that a trip to Chicago might be dangerous.

Judge Wilkerson, after testimony had been completed, pointed out that the main difference was concerning the respondent's activities on January 17, 18 and 19, and that in this connection "it is obvious somebody is lying."

Dr. Charles Spencer Williamson, head of the medical college of the University of Illinois, testified as a rebuttal witness for the prosecution and said some of the things listed by Dr. Phillips as symptoms of pneumonia were not generally regarded as symptoms of that disease by the medical profession.

Kansas City, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Four men robbed the Security State Bank of $11,000 here today and escaped in an automobile taken from a woman who was driving near the institution.

Six customers and eight officials and employes in the bank were forced to lie on the floor while the robbers gathered up the currency.

Sand and Gravel Prices Boosted

District and Federal Highway Construction to Cost More.

Contracts on District and Federal highway construction will cost somewhat more than estimated this spring because of an announcement yesterday by the two sand and gravel companies in Washington that their rates have been raised.

Both the Smoot and the Columbia Sand & Gravel Cos. yesterday informed District contractors that the price on gravel had been raised from $1 to $1.30 a ton, while the charge for sand has been boosted from 55 to 85 cents.

The raise in prices is understood to have followed the purchase of the Columbia Co. by the Arundel Co., of Baltimore, which has been competing with the two Washington concerns. The former prices of $1 and 55 cents have been in effect about two years.

Bad Brakes Laid to Driver.

Wife, 19, Asks Court For Absolute Divorce

Charging infidelity and naming a correspondent, Mrs. Effie B. Mastbrook, 19, through her next friend, Mrs. Effie M. Rummel, of 647 Lexington place northeast, yesterday petitioned District Supreme Court for an absolute divorce from Clarence W. Mastbrook, of 236 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

The young wife states she was married to Mastbrook January 12, 1929, at Upper Marlboro, Md., when she was only 17 years old. The couple have one child. Attorney Karl Kindleberger represents Mrs. Mastbrook.

Carl Casey, who died February 7, left an estate valued at $475,000, according to the petition for the probate of his will filed yesterday. Mrs. Annie L. Casey, the widow, was named sole executor, but asked the District Supreme Court to permit the National Metropolitan Bank to act as coexecutor.

Mrs. Casey is the principal beneficiary under the will. A sister of the deceased, Mrs. Theodora Casey Topliffe, of the Highland Apartments, is given $50,000 and the widow is to receive the income from the residuary estate during life. At Mrs. Casey's death the will directs that the sister shall receive the income.

Further provision is made that at the death of widow and sister the estate be distributed between Landra B. Platt, of Washington, James B. Platt, of Baltimore, Md., and several other relatives.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

PELLAGRA ON INCREASE.

THE reports show that pellagra is on the increase. The drought and other causes are held responsible. A further increase is expected until such time as a better season brings about better crops and a wider supply of pellagra preventive foods.

The Virginia Department of Health bulletin on pellagra gives the following as symptoms of pellagra: A rash which is quite distinctive as to its appearance, its location on the body, and as to the season of year at which it appears; diarrhea and inflamed reddened mouth and tongue with burning sensation and increased salivation; nervous symptoms, and sometimes insanity. And also, at times, headache, dizziness, indigestion, constipation, nervousness, loss of strength, and burning sensations.

It is generally accepted now that pellagra comes from prolonged use of an improper food. If there is a history of prolonged use of a diet that is poor in fresh meats, milk, and green vegetables and over supplied with fat meat and molasses, and other foods that are poor in certain vitamins, a suspicion of pellagra is changed to a certainty.

Pellagra can usually be cured and it can be prevented with almost certainty. Both are done by the persistent use of a diet that is rich in vitamin B complex or, in what was once called vitamin Pp. This vitamin abounds in yeast. What State health departments and State farm and home demonstrations should do is to teach the people to grow yeast like mother used to do. It is not easy to forgive health departments for failure to do this, since they know so well that every recurrence of hard times brings waves of pellagra. If the people will not grow their own yeast and eat it the next best thing to do is to buy it, and the market is well supplied.

The next most important measure of relief is to eat the germ of grains. Probably wheat germ is the best of these, but possibly any grain germ will do. What can be done to persuade the people to grind whole grain and eat it fresh? At least those with pellagra could be persuaded to do this. Among the foods that are useful are the yellow of eggs, canned salmon, and good vegetables.

RAYNAUD'S DISEASE.

Mrs. F. L. M. writes: What is Raynaud's disease? Is it possible to operate for this?

REPLY.

Raynaud's disease is a spasm of the muscles of the smaller arteries running to a finger or toe. This spasm causes something of a frostbite effect. Dry gangrene may follow. An operation for it is on trial.

RABBIT DISEASE.

Mrs. H. B. T. writes: I want more information on this rabbit disease. We live where rabbits are plentiful and we eat quite a few. I want to know how a rabbit with this disease looks.

REPLY.

If a wild rabbit acts sick, does not jump easily, or is easily caught, he is probably sick. When many dead rabbits are found in the fields the chances are good that rabbit disease prevails among the game, for other game animals and birds may have this disease. The liver of a freshly killed ribbit that has tularemia usually shows many light areas flecking it here and there.

The people who are in danger of this disease are hunters, cooks, and butchers. Skinning tularemia rabbit is especially dangerous. There is no convincing proof that eating the meat of an infected animal causes one to become infected. The disease is also spread by infected insects such as ticks and deerflies.

JOHNSON FORESEES NO AID FROM ROOKIE PITCHERS

Westbrook Pegler Says

LAKE PLACID, Feb. 26.—The Eastern amateur ski jumping championship was run off on the Olympic tower outside the town of Lake Placid this week. When it was over, the officials went into a solemn huddle and decided Roy Mikkelson, of Chicago, had won, but it probably is an unfamiliar name, as ski jumping, up to the present time, has been almost a secret sport, like interclass bean-bag at Vassar.

The jumps were made from a platform, built just about at the top of a mountain, after a slide down a steep wooden incline, covered to a depth of about a foot with packed snow. There had been a fresh fall of snow overnight, but the jumpers asked to have it removed as it would be likely to reduce their speed. So a lot of guests at the Lake Placid Club turned out on their skis and shoved the fresh snow back with garden rakes, used back end to. This left the packed snow in a slightly scuffed-up condition, so the guests then passed a long rope down the hill, secured at the top end, and, hanging to this like Alpine climbers, stamped the snow hard and smooth with their skis.

The ski jumpers, most of whom, being Scandinavians, pronounce the word "yump," did not think the mountain was high enough or steep enough to exert their best efforts, so the tower was built on the highest point of the crest. Then, although the altitude was just a little short of 300 feet and the grade almost as steep as the side of a house, the jumpers wanted the course made even faster.

DESPONDENT LOVER HAS CHANCE

The outlook from the top of the tower as the jumpers stand at the brink waiting for their turns to go is about the same that confronts a despondent lover who goes up to the top of a high building, object suicide; and the whole proposition of leaping out into space this way is a good deal like jumping out of a window up near the eaves of the Chrysler Building. About three seconds after the start the jumper comes to a place where the runway ends, and he goes sailing through the air, with his pants making fluttery, flapping noises and his features drawn into a desperate expression. If he is a good jumper he will sail 150 feet or more before the arc of his course brings him back to slap his runners down on the mountain side. If he is a star jumper he will go farther.

Some of the jumpers were little stringy kids from the Northwood Prep School in Lake Placid, apparently no more than 15 or 16 years old. Maj. Philip Fleming, the graduate manager of athletics at West Point, who is a bit of a nut on the subject of winter sports, happened to be in Lake Placid inhaling a few armfuls of air for himself, so they asked him to act as starter. He invited your correspondent to go along as assistant starter, and your correspondent thought the duties of this position would require him to grab hold of some of the jumpers and push them off, as, judging by the view from the platform, it seemed very likely that some of the boys would wish to change their minds.

However, it was not necessary to do this, and the most astonishing thing about the whole procedure was the casual manner of the young men as they stood around the platform, all crowded together and with their skis strapped on, waiting their turns. As a man's turn approached, he edged up toward the brink, and when the major called his name he shoved off with a couple of little quick shuffles into the great white beyond. There were a dozen or fifteen tumbles in about 180 jumps, one of them executed by or of the worst ski jumpers in the world, a clumsy kid who seemed pretty likely to spatter himself all over the mountainside each time, but he came back up for his next turn and stepped off with no delay when his name was called.

CLUMSY KID BACK FOR MORE

The grand stands are built one on each side of the course on the hill below the take-off—tall, narrow pine structures decorated with bunting, but most of the crowd were banked around the flat, down at the bottom, where the jumpers pull up with a twist known as the Christiania turn. This position gives the nearest view of the spills as the boys go rolling down the mountain at about 60 miles an hour. There is a scientific way of falling, all limp with the arms flung out. The skis, which weigh as much as 20 pounds apiece, then have a tendency to go first. However, some of the boys who fell didn't observe the best principles of this work and went bowling head over heels all of a jumble, with their skis spinning and clattering every which way.

Still, nobody seemed to be hurt, which is a suspicious circumstance to your correspondent, as it seems that if this game were strictly on the level there should have been at least a few ambulance cases. Maybe they make it look harder than it really is, although jumping down a mountain side from a tower built on

Clubs Swarm Post to File Entries

Entries to Close at Midnight; Jam Today in Prospect.

SCENES familiar to tournament officials were reenacted last night as ambitious basket ball managers besieged the sports department of The Post in hurried efforts to enter their teams in the fifth annual District of Columbia A. A. U. basket ball championships, which start at Tech High School March 9.

With tonight at midnight as the deadline for entries in the five boys' classes and the two girls' divisions, team managers filtered into The Post throughout the day and last night were in a veritable swarm while A. A. U. officials who are cooperating with The Post in sponsoring the tournament, accepted the entries.

Greater Jam in Prospect Today.

Today and tonight holds forth the prospect of an even greater jam at the headquarters at The Post when the bulk of the teams are slated to submit entries. This last minute rush is familiar business to the tournament officials, who in the past have been hard put to handle the rush of entries.

At the rate of the reception of entries, there has been no diminution of interest in the annual tournament which has come to be regarded as Washington's greatest indoor event of the sports season. As usual, the unlimited class leads in number of entries, but indications are that every division will be well filled with notable increases in the two girls' classes.

Last year, the Post's tournament set a United States record for a sectional basket ball event with 83 entries, and tournament officials see prospects of this number being exceeded when the final count of entries is made early tomorrow morning.

Tourney Plans Elaborate.

The Post, in cooperation with A. A. U. officials, has made elaborate arrangements for the staging of the tourney at the spacious Tech High Gymnasium. In Orrel Mitchell, Joe Mitchell and Tom Ford, the three outstanding officials of this vicinity have been engaged to handle the games. Phentions opening night ceremonies on March 9 also are planned.

Teams which have not yet registered their players or submitted team blanks, will find these blanks available at the sports department of The Post throughout today and tonight, with tournament officials on the scene to overlook the procedure of filing the entries.

South Atlantic League, Lacking Club, Disbands

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—W. G. Bramham, of Durham, president of the South Atlantic Baseball Association, announced here today the league would be disbanded at once because of inability to "find a suitable city to take the franchise held by the Columbia (S.C.) Club."

The Augusta (Ga.) Club, given until today to raise its $1,500 forfeit, reported through J. L. Hinson, attorney, it had been unable to secure the money. Columbus, Ga., and Jacksonville, Fla., two clubs seeking the Columbia franchise, were not agreeable to several Sally members because of the added traveling necessary should either be taken in.

Officials of the Charlotte and Asheville Clubs announced they would make immediate applications to join the Piedmont League, an all-North Carolina class "B" loop.

Newport News Scots In Soccer Game Here

A Scotch team from Newport News, Va., will play a local Scotch eleven on the Silver Spring field Sunday in an International Cup series. Ben Kail will referee and Billie Smith and Jack Caldwell will act as linesmen.

This will mark the second trip that the Virginians have made to Washington and the fourth game played between teams of the two cities. Early in the fall Rosedale went to Newport News and was defeated 1 to 0. Later the Virginians came here and were beaten, 3 to 2, by the Washington Concords. Last week the latter eleven played a 2 to 2 deadlock in Newport News.

Long Shot and Favorite In Dead Heat at Havana

Havana, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—A dead heat—a rarity in horse racing—occurred at Oriental Park today, when F. C. Dunn's Hilary and L. Mascia's Ulverston finished on even terms in the mile and one-sixteenth event, carded fifth on the program. The dead heat was the second in Cuban racing history.

When the two owners decided against a run-off the $800 claiming purse was split. Hilary was the long shot of the pair, closing at 10-to-1, while Ulverston was the 2-to-1 favorite.

Catholic U. Plans To Cancel Game, Final G.W. Clash

THE last remaining vestige of athletic relations between George Washington University and Catholic University has been swept away.

According to a report received by The Post, Catholic University has initiated or will initiate plans for the cancellation of the basket ball game between the two institutions scheduled on March 6 which at the time of the severance of all sports relations two weeks ago was exempted. While George Washington officials have not been reached it is believed that they will agree to the cancellation.

The probable cancellation of the game follows hard after a statement made by Father James H. Ryan, rector of Catholic University, to an audience at Catholic University's winter sports carnival in which he stated that "if any of our neighbors do not care to play with us, then we say with all good spirit 'Play in your own back yard.'"

Central Beaten, 21-20; Revenge for Casassa

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 26.—Bernard Casassa, center of the St. John's College freshman basketball team, couldn't make the Central High School quintet last year, but tonight he sank the point which defeated his alma mater, 21 to 20.

Casassa shot a pair of fouls two minutes from the finish which defeated Central after a sensational field goal by Morgan from the center of the floor just a moment before had taken from the young Johnnies a lead they had enjoyed throughout most of the contest.

Eastern Five Beats Training School, 38-18

A determined second-half drive, after the score had been at 13-10 at the half whistle, gave Eastern High a 38-18 victory over the National Training School tossers yesterday afternoon in a game played at Eastern gym.

The Training School boys took the Lincoln Parkers by surprise in the early sections of the game by their smooth passing and shooting. Coombs and Jones, forward and guard for the Bladensburg road boys, were especially potent during this period.

S. Conference Fives Await Tourney

Maryland Opens With L. S. U. Tonight at Atlanta.

Alabama Five Is Favored in Annual Court Play.

By DILLON GRAHAM
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—On the hastily erected wooden court at the Auditorium here, sixteen of Dixie's cleverest cage teams start their quest tomorrow for the Southern Conference basket ball championship, now held by Alabama.

The title winning team of 1930 is scheduled to make its first defense of its crown late in the afternoon against the Volunteers, of Tennessee, one of the two teams to down the Crimson this season.

The former champions—Vanderbilt and North Carolina—open the eighth annual event at 1 o'clock, Central standard time, with four other games in the afternoon and three in the evening.

Georgia, which led the teams down the regular campaign stretch and finished with fifteen wins and a single defeat, has been made the early favorite. The Athens Bulldogs face Washington and Lee in their first contest.

Maryland University's quintet, considered the outstanding dark horse, will swing into action at 7 o'clock against Louisiana State University.

The tournament teams began arriving early today and almost every afternoon train had its quota of basketers. Kentucky was the first to make its appearance and Coach Adolph Rupp's men took a short workout on the court today.

Coaches to Arrange Grid, Track Games.

Gus Tebell, whose North Carolina State Team won the title in 1929, registered this morning, but his Virginia Team—he shifted to the Charlottesville school last fall—won't arrive until later.

The Atlanta Athletic Club, sponsor of the tournament and headquarters for the teams, resounded today and tonight with the greetings of coaches and athletic directors. Many football coaches were on hand arranging details for the fall games, while track and baseball mentors also were busy arranging games and meets for the coming season.

The conference is to have a semi-formal meeting some time during the tournament period and decide whether the loop is to favor the new baseball to be used in the major leagues this summer.

Starting at 1 o'clock, the tournament will run continuously through the Florida-Georgia Tech contest, beginning at 9 o'clock.

North Carolina-Vanderbilt, 1 p. m.
Auburn-Virginia, 2 p. m.
Duke-Clemson, 3 p. m.
N. C. State-Kentucky, 4 p. m.
Alabama-Tennessee, 5 p. m.

Columbus U. Plays Bliss Quintet Tonight

Columbus University's five tonight has a chance to clinch third place and to strengthen its bid for second place in the Washington Collegiate Conference standings when it meets the fourth place Bliss quintet at Silver Spring, beginning at 9 o'clock.

With victory tonight, Columbus will close its conference season with five victories and three defeats. Should Strayer, now in second place, drop its remaining two games, Columbus then would advance automatically to the runner-up berth. The dope indicates a Columbus triumph tonight.

G. U. Prep Noses Out Mount St. Joseph Five

Mount St. Joseph's tossers visited Garrett Park yesterday and wrested a close and exciting 21-17 victory over Georgetown Prep in a wild and wooly game which stood 11-11 at the halfway intermission.

The Prepmen showed the effects of the absence of Bull Heekin, high-scoring guard, who did not put in an appearance until late in the game.

HOMER HAZEL probably set an all-time record with his 8-second touchdown. Hazel weighed 230 pounds but he could step off a hundred yards in 10 seconds. The game started with Villanova receiving and Hazel's kickoff went far over the goal line. Like a streak, Hazel was down under the ball almost before it landed. A Villanova player made an effort to touch the ball to the ground but he fumbled it. Hazel made a headlong dive, landed on the ball and scored a touchdown 8 seconds after the game had started.

WALKER NOW WOULD FACE SHARKEY

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Mickey Walker, the grown-up bulldog, having demonstrated his ability to mix in bigger company by twice whipping Johnny Risko, will fight Jack Sharkey somewhere this summer, preferably in New York or Jersey City, if present negotiations go through, Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, declared today.

Mickey's convincing victory over Johnny last night, while more of an artistic than a financial success for all concerned, nevertheless gave impetus to the ballyhoo for the middle weight champion as a front-rank contender for heavier honors.

"We'll fight anybody at any weight so long as we can see the color of the 'dough,'" asserted Kearns, "but we prefer Sharkey. I have had offers for the match from several places including Cleveland, Chicago and Detroit.

"Walker hasn't fought in New York for four years, however, and that looks like the spot to me if we can close the deal."

No Middleweight Opposition.

Kearns, who piloted Jack Dempsey to the world's championship, is seeking bigger game for Walker because of a dearth of middleweight material. Mickey, he insisted, still can make the 160-pound limit in defense of his title. However, he hasn't defended the crown since he fought Ace Hudkins in Los Angeles over two years ago and he weighed 165½ last night against Risko.

"Pa" Stribling, promoter of last night's fistic party, was assured he had furnished the best of all the battles under the palms, but his box office tabulators also advise him it had failed to show a profit.

"We kept our word and went through with the show under handicaps, but we will be lucky to break even financially," the elder Stribling said.

Stadium Only Fifth Filled.

Today's checkup showed that only 10,200 cash customers—less than half of the ringside estimates and only a fifth of the stadium's capacity—contributed to the gross gate of $38,849.39. After deduction of Government tax amounting to $3,469.50 on the $5 and $10 tickets the promoter was left with $35,379.89 for the payoff.

Fifty per cent of the net went to the main bout performers. Walker's 30 per cent amounting to about $10,000 and Risko's 20 per cent to approximately $7,000.

Despite these disappointing returns, preparations went forward for the second heavyweight show, scheduled March 5, with Primo Carnera and Jimmy Maloney booked for the main bout.

Johnson Predicts Nats Will Win 1931 Flag on Fortune Teller Advice

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 26.—Manager Walter Johnson, usually quite reticent about predicting where his Washington Team will finish in pennant races, tonight unqualifiedly admitted that he is confident that his Nationals will win the 1931 gonfalon.

Oddly enough, his reasons were not the usual ones—good pitching staff, good batting power, tight fielding, and better utility fense—but because an indian fortune teller told him that his team simply can't lose.

"I saw this fellow in New York last week," said Johnson. "He had one of those 'waunee' boards, and after studying that and a book he told me this would be a great year for me and that my club was just the same as in. Of course, I'm not superstitious and don't believe in fortunetellers; but you know they're sometimes right, and this prediction, added to my own ideas on the subject, just about convinced me that this is a Washington year."

1,500 Applaud Jones At A. A. U. Ceremony

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Bobby Jones added to his premiership in golf tonight the gold medal of honor for championing amateurism. The James E. Sullivan medal was formally pinned on the shoulders that bear the four great titles in golf. The honor came on the eve of his plunge into a moving picture venture that caused him to retire from golf competition, as he felt it would not be compatible with his simon pure status.

But the plaudits of admirers still dinned in his ears as 1,500 persons saw Avery Brundage, of Chicago, president of the National Amateur Athletic Union, award the trophy to the Atlantan at the Medinah Athletic Club. From the laudations of his amateurism and of his stupendous prowess on the links, the inimitable Jones will plunge into a dervish of producing movies of how he won to the pinnacle of golfdom, writing articles for newspapers and broadcasting to the world.

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Waite Hoyt, who came to the Detroit Tiger pitching staff from the Yankees last season, has set his heart on winning 20 games this year. After a bad 1930 season, Hoyt began conditioning in midwinter and is now well ahead of most of his teammates in the process of rounding into form.

Bush Works Makeshift Infield.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Chicago White Sox infielders and outfielders are not due to report to Manager Donie Bush until Monday, but Rad Radcliff, recruit first baseman, and Bill Cissell, the expensive infielder, showed up today.

Bush took advantage of the arrivals by forming a makeshift infield with Jeffries at third, Seigel at short, Cissell at second and Radcliff at first, and putting the boys through a workout. The batterymen speeded up with the appearance of warmer weather.

Hornsby Works With Cub Infield.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 26.—Manager Walter Johnson was given his first look at the young pitchers rounded up by Scout Joe Engel when the Nationals staged their first 1931 workout here this morning. The drill was merely for warming up purposes, with Trainer Mike Martin busy doling out the running assignments and only about 5 minutes of tossing the ball allowed.

Johnson, as usual, led his men in work, taking no less than eight laps around the park, while the most any of the others took was four, which was the portion assigned to Irving Hadley. With the fingers only playing catch, naturally Johnson could not form an opinion as to the ability of any of the newcomers.

After the drill, however, he made it quite plain that he is not depending upon any of them making good, believing that he can get along well enough with those on the roster last year. Of course, a good prospect always is a delight to a manager, but Johnson believes that he is "sitting pretty" in not having to depend upon the development of one or two, as is the case with some of his rivals.

Johnson Has Outlined Pitching Plans.

Already Johnson has outlined a plan which he hopes to be able to follow and which only an injury to some of those involved can block.

"I'm determined to have Fred Marberry, Irving Hadley, Alvin Crowder, Sam Jones, Lloyd Brown, and Adolph Liska in tiptop condition by the time the season starts," he said.

"While all of the pitchers are going to be kept busy, I'm planning to concentrate on these six. Marberry and Crowder are big, strong fellows and the others are youngsters who should be able to get themselves into condition quickly, and who should not be bothered by cold weather, if we run into any when we get back home.

"Jones," Walter continued, "doesn't round to form as easily as the others and can take his time, while Bobby Burke and Carl Fischer probably will not be asked to start any games during the first few weeks of the season.

Marberry Best Spring Bet.

"I regard Marberry as my best spring bet. You know he did not win a game until late May last year, and that's not going to happen again. He thought he was in shape last spring and I believed him, even though Mike Martin said he wasn't ready. Well, Mike's say will go this time."

Incidentally, Johnson is not particularly enthusiastic over these Hot Spring trips. "They simply go there and play golf and, with no one there to boss them, don't do much work. For fellows like Sam Rice, the outdoor work and baths probably do some good, but I don't mind saying that I'd much rather have Marberry here."

All of which means that Mister Marberry will have a man-sized assignment of work cooked out to him when he arrives here Sunday.

The Nationals found the weather here ideal for their first drill. Although the sun hardly was in evidence, the air was just cold enough to be bracing and not too chilly to prevent the athletes from working up good sweats.

McLeod Signs To Be Farmed.

Another Nat came in the fold when President Griffith's mail brought the signed contract of Infielder Jimmy McLeod, and it was promptly announced that he would be farmed to Chattanooga on 24-hour option.

Only Fred Marberry, Liska and Infielder Jack Hayes have not accepted terms and the fact that President Clark Griffith allowed them to report, for training means that there is no great difference between what they ask and what the Nat owner is prepared to give them.

G. W. and Gallaudet Play at Home Tonight

The rapidly waning basket ball season for local collegians presents two games for home consumption tonight and one on a foreign court. Gallaudet, closing its campaign at home, meets Drexel Institute at Kendall Green, beginning at 8 o'clock, while George Washington entertains Virginia Medical College at the H street gym, starting at 8:15. On the road, Catholic University's five concludes its schedule in a clash with the New York Seventh Regiment of National Guards at Brooklyn.

In earlier games, Gallaudet bowed to Drexel, 36-30, and George Washington defeated the Medicos, 44-27. Both of the visiting teams remain here for games tomorrow night, Drexel opposing G. W. and Virginia Medical engaging American University.

Kozeluh, Worn by Many Defeats, Quits Tilden Tour to Obtain Rest

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—William T. Tilden will continue his professional tennis tour but will no longer have Karel Kozeluh, of Czechoslovakia, as his opponent, local sports promoters were informed today.

In an appearance tonight in the Butler University Field House here, Tilden was to have met Kozeluh in a singles match, but local promoters were informed Kozeluh had abandoned the tour after suffering his sixth straight defeat last night in Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The need for rest from his labors as touring tennis foe of William T. Tilden overcame Karel Kozeluh, Czechoslovakian star, in their professional match here today, the latter announced.

Kozeluh, who has been a professional star, today and he took a day's layoff, remaining in Chicago at the home of Anton Cermak, Democratic nominee for mayor, while the others went on to fill an Indianapolis engagement.

Kozeluh will rejoin the group, which includes Frank Hunter and Emmett Pare—both, like Tilden, newly turned professionals—in Detroit Friday. Kozeluh's health was not the best when he began the tour, and the wear and tear of trying to match strokes with Tilden, combined with playing indoors on unyielding surfaces, culminated in his near collapse last night as Tilden defeated him for the sixth straight time. Tilden took two of the first three sets, and the Czech was too ill to finish the match.

Eddie Morgan, of Indians, Weds; Insists He Is Through With Game

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Eddie Morgan, Cleveland's home run hitting first baseman, will not be on hand Monday when the Indians report here. He was on his honeymoon today with his bride, Miss Frances Tobin, a New Orleans debutante of the 1930 season.

Morgan, who recently announced his retirement from baseball to become associated with his father in business at Kenner, La., was married here last night. The bride is one of the most prominent Louisianians socially.

Though Morgan has had an acquaintance with Miss Tobin for several years, it was only during the last month that they saw much of each other.

"I always said when I met a girl that I couldn't stay away from or get out of my mind that that was the girl I was going to marry," the baseball star said. "Frances is that girl, and, boys, here I am, married."

MITCHELL DEFENDS MARYLAND INDOOR NET TITLE

Ten District Players in Tourney

Play to Start Today in Annual Event at Baltimore.

Yeomans, Shore and Sendel Among Capital Entries.

DISTRICT tennis will be well represented in the annual Maryland indoor championship, which starts tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock on the board courts of the Fifth Regiment Armory, in Baltimore. The tourney has attracted no less than ten noted local exponents of the game.

Heading the list of invaders will be Dooly Mitchell, present holder of the title and second ranking player in the District. Mitchell's sturdy type of play wrought havoc in the tournament last year, and he swept all opponents aside in the minimum number of sets played. This year promises to be no exception. The Hilltop netman has been playing his best indoor game, his service being particularly potent.

Jacobs Brothers Absent.

With the absence of Eddie and Billy Jacobs from the tournament, due to their attendance at the University of Pittsburgh, it appears that Mitchell will meet his sternest opposition from local players. The Washington players entered are Ed Yeomans, Frank Shore (recent winner of the national indoor junior doubles), Frederico Sendel (young Mexican Davis Cup player), Colin Stam, Anthony Latona, Clyde Yeomans, Manuel G. Martinez and Bill Buchanan.

Matches will be the best two out of three sets, except the finals, which will be three out of five. The finals in both singles and doubles are carded for Sunday, March 8.

Equal Rights Sought For Potomac Anglers

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., February 26.—Game commissions of Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia will be asked to arrange a plan whereby equal fishing rights in the Potomac for fishermen of all three States will be restored, in place of the provision now which requires that Virginia and West Virginia anglers take out Maryland fishing licenses before using the Potomac. Maryland is proprietor of the river under the law.

The request is the substance of a resolution adopted here Tuesday night at a joint meeting of interested sportsmen from Hagerstown and Williamsport, Md., Virginia and West Virginia towns. The resolution was offered by Guy E. Habercon, of Hagerstown, Md., after an hour and a half of discussion, and was adopted unanimously.

Paul H. Martin, this city, told the sportsmen he had communicated informally with the commissions and they had indicated their willingness to assist in any way possible.

Western Five Faces Alexandria in Finale

Western High Basket Ball Team winds up its schedule for the year tonight when Alexandria High is met at Alexandria, commencing at 8:15 o'clock. Western scored an easy victory over the Virginians earlier in the season, but tonight promises to tell another story, since the two big threats of the Western team, Latona and Buscher, are no longer available.

Central is host to a hardened opponent this afternoon in St. Mary's Male Academy, of Norfolk, the strong prep outfit which terrorizes schoolboy teams in their region. Central barely won an earlier engagement.

St. Alban's band of sharpshooters approach the end of their schedule today when Friends School is met at St. Alban's.

CONFERENCE RING TEAMS ON EDGE

Tourney Opens Tonight at Va.; Cavalier Boxers Studious.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 26. The three Virginia boxers on whose skill there rests much of the chances for a Cavalier team victory in the Southern Conference tournament which begins here tomorrow are all crack students as well as skilled ringmen.

Capt. Bob Rainey, conference welterweight champion; Fenton Gentry, veteran light-heavyweight, and Bobby Goldstein, the new featherweight who is undefeated in college boxing, are all men whose average in the college of arts and sciences entitles them to places on the "dean's list" of distinguished students.

Capt. Rainey has transferred to the law school, but during his last year in the college he maintained for three terms the average of 85 on all studies required to make the "dean's list." Gentry and Goldstein are both on the distinguished list for this year, which has just been announced.

Paul and Smith Star Students.

John Paul, who will be entered as bantamweight, and Wellford Smith, who will represent Virginia in the lightweight class, are not on the "dean's list" for this year, but their names are in the last issue of the catalogue among the distinguished students of a year ago.

Rainey will be boxing in his final bouts this week-end, but all the others who will wear the Orange and Blue in the ring will have one year, maybe two more with the gloves. Rainey, whose home is in Oklahoma City, Okla., has not been defeated in the 145-pound class.

Goldstein has had a remarkable career as a boxer. He has been in the ring for four years, though this is his first season of varsity competition. In more than 40 bouts he has lost only once, two years ago in Madison Square Garden to Jimmy Turk, golden glove champion. Goldstein is an honor graduate of McKinley Tech High School, of Washington, D. C.

Fenton Gentry is the holder of intermediate honors for having averaged 85 or more on all work through two years. His home is in Chattanooga, Tenn.

QUANTICO MARINES WIN.

Carlisle, Pa., Feb. 26.—The Quantico Marine Basket Ball Team nosed out the Medical Field Service five here this afternoon, 30 to 28, in a game which was sensationally won in the last 40 seconds of play by Posik's neat "snowbird."

STOCK PRICES SOAR AS REALIZING HALTS

Utilities Lead in Gains as Total Volume of Sales Reach 4,600,000.

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—With a large volume of realizing out of the way bulls jumped back into the stock market with both feet today, rushed the leaders to new highs and then took further profits. The late selling, although brisk, failed to erase the earlier gains and new advances of 1 to 2 points were general. Sales totaled 4,600,000 shares.

Group strength in the utilities, which received strong pool sponorship, brought back memories of old times and of some that are not so old, notably the advance of just a year ago. Steels climbed aboard the rally, led by United States common, which rose nearly 4 points to a new top for the year at 152¾. Others exceeding their previous maximums included American Telephone, General Electric, Westinghouse, Bethlehem, General Motors, Consolidated Gas and North American, Simmons was particularly strong. So were Pullman, Sinclair Oil, R. H. Macy, United Aircraft, Standard Gas & Electric, American Water Works and Wrigley, in which net gains ranged from 1 to 4. Auburn chugged up 14 points to 217½, but closed at 209¾, where it was 6¼ higher.

Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward reacted under profit taking. American Can, unable to reach new high ground, lost a small fraction net, while the advance in United States Steel was cut to 2¼.

The $36,000,000 increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans brought the gain in the last three weeks to $82,000,000, during which time the Standard Statistics average for 90 stocks have risen 15 points—so that speculative borrowing has expanded to a comparatively small extent. This, however, indicates that short covering has been an important factor in the upturn.

Somewhat larger demands for funds sent the banks to the Reserve with bills during the last week, although the increase in central bank purchases was small. Money available for demand loans here is plentiful and the unofficial rate has gone back to 1 per cent.

Reports that the Bank of France was to reduce the discount rate proved unfounded, at least for this week. It had been thought the rate might be lowered as an aid to the Bank of England, which would thus be able to avoid raising its own discount. Today's statements of both banks showed that the gold holdings of each had increased.

Foreign exchanges eased. Sterling cables were off ½ to $4.85 25-32, and the Spanish peseta lost several points.

Success Indicated For Cities Service

Control of Richfield Oil Co. Has Been Acquired, Brokers' Belief.

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Decision of Cities Service Co. today not to extend or renew its offer to exchange its stock for that of Richfield Oil Co. of California, was interpreted in Wall Street as indicating success of the effort of Cities Service to acquire working control of Richfield.

Under the terms of the offer, which expired last night, Cities Service exchanged one share of its stock for four shares of Richfield Oil, up to a total of 800,000 shares of Richfield common.

At the time the offer was made a month ago it was reported that Cities Service already held between 500,000 and 700,000 shares of Richfield stock, acquired in the open market before and after the Richfield company was placed in the hands of a receiver. As of January 8, 1931, Richfield Oil had 2,126,250 common shares outstanding.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Wheat suffered a maximum break of 2½ cents a bushel today, largely as a result of Germany's announcement of the Federal Farm Board's support policy. The announcement said 25,000,000 bushels held by the Grain Stabilization Corporation, an auxiliary of the Farm Board, would be offered abroad. Heavy selling of wheat futures by shorts and generally construed as bearish. Once these, changing wheat down to the lowest level since January 20, with corn following to a new bottom price record for the season.

Wheat closed nervous at a fractional rally, 2-2¼ cents off, corn showing ¼-¾ cent net back, oats unchanged to ¼ decline, and provisions unchanged to 20 cents higher.

Stop-loss selling of wheat futures both preceded and followed the Grain Stabilization Corporation's statement. Reports that the statement would be issued today gave current selling impetus. Issued today, traders anticipated, for at least the time being the effect would prove bearish. Some were taken that the Government-sponsored agency was holding to be offered abroad would be kept to a competitive basis with export wheat. Other countries, it was said, other several months, and that overseas disposals of 25,000,000 bushels would make more room for handling the 1931 domestic crop.

Contributing to wheat price weakness were reports that Australia was dumping wheat on European markets at lower prices as a result of Australian government promises of a bonus on exports. European importers were also anticipating liberal arrivals of wheat hereafter from Argentina as well as Australia, notwithstanding that Argentine growers appeared unwilling to sell freely. The late fractional rally of the Chicago market was promoted by authoritative denials that the plans of the Grain Stabilization Corporation would be affected by the Australian government bounty policy or that the domestic policy on the 1930 crop which would be allowed operation for some months.

Corn and oats sympathized with the downward course of wheat. Corn traders gave attention also to unofficial estimates that the new Argentine corn crop would total 466,000,000 bushels, compared with a seven-year average of 382,000,000. Provisions were responsive to upturns in grain values.

PRESSURE RENEWED AGAINST U. S. BONDS

Domestic Issues Sluggish While Foreign Loans Continue Rises.

In about the same volume of business, pressure was renewed against United States Governments. Corporate domestic bonds were dull and narrowly irregular, and foreigns were accumulated at higher prices.

Phe presidential veto of the soldiers' bonus legislation and overriding of the Chief Executive's objections by Congress had been a foregone conclusion in Wall street, so had been thoroughly discounted. However, there was further softening in prices selling was not as persistent and only about half as large as on the previous day. Apparently sellers anticipated the expected announcement Monday of the Treasury's plans for March financing. Losses ranged from 1-8 to 11-16. Treasury 3⅜s of 1943-1947 declined 11-16, and the twin issue maturing 1940-43 sold off ½, both closing at new lows for the year.

The foreign list provided a sharp contrast with the domestic bonds, for corporate issues with high ratings moved sluggishly. New highs for the year were reached by a number of European loans, notably German 7s and 5½s, Copenhagen 5s, Italian Public Credit 7s, Prussia 6½s, Greek 6s and several of the municipals. There were heavy dealings in Italian 7s near the peak price of the year, and Japanese 5½s touched a new maximum. Fractional advances were the rule in the Latin-American group. Disturbances in Uruguay depressed the government obligations on a few sales.

Convertibles did an about-face as the share market resumed the advance interrupted yesterday. Some were joined in the rise by a dozen or so second-grade bonds that are very sensitive to stock market movements.

WASHINGTON OFFICE OF AETNA EXPANDS

Richmond Agency Will Be Combined With Firm's Branch Here.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The Richmond general agency of Aetna Life Insurance Co. is to be combined with the Aetna's local general agency and P. D. Sleeper, present general agent here, is to assume charge of the combined organizations. The partnership of Dunlop & Myers, present Richmond general agents, will dissolve, Mr. Dunlop resigning and Mr. Myers remaining in charge of the Richmond office as associate to Mr. Sleeper. Vice President K. A. Luther, in making this announcement yesterday, stated that the change would be effective March 1.

Mr. Sleeper has earned this additional responsibility, Mr. Luther explained, as a result of the notably splendid job he has done at Washington. When he took charge here in 1926 he had a comparatively small organization to start work on. He showed marked organization ability from the outset. In many respects his methods have been singularly individual. In his own words, he staked his future on the theory that a small organization of first class, full-time men is a better bet than an unwieldy organization made up of many small producers.

Regional Meeting of 1930.

Proof that, so far as he was concerned, the theory was right, came last year when Mr. Sleeper's organization qualified 100 per cent, the only Aetna organization in the country to do so—for the company's 1930 regional meeting. This meeting is given as an award to Aetna men who write a specified large volume of business annually. His organization is acknowledged one of the smoothest working, one of the most loyal and enthusiastic agency groups in the country.

Mr. Sleeper is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy, Class of 1913. From there he went with the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., where he remained for eight years. In 1921 he entered the life insurance business with a Richmond, (Va.) company as supervisor of agents and later superintendent of agencies. He left there to join the Aetna in September, 1926.

January statements of operation have been filed with the Public Utilities Commission by the Capital Traction, Washington Railway & Electric and Potomac Electric Power Cos. That of the Capital Traction Co. for the sixth full month in which increased fare was in operation shows a net income of $37,705.67, a decrease of $2,044.66 from January, 1930.

The statement of Washington Railway & Electric Co. for bus operations shows a net of $2,132.72, against a deficit of $2,247.95 for the month a year ago and for rail operations a net of $47,709.02, as compared with $51,819.50 for the month last year. Net income of Potomac Electric Power Co. was $422,656.95, or $11,550.87 under January, 1930.

Passenger Agent Appointed.

R. H. Hamilton has been appointed division passenger agent of the Southern Railway, with headquarters in this city, succeeding the late S. E. Burgess. Mr. Hamilton entered the service of the Southern in 1914 as city ticket agent at Rome, Ga. He was agent of the consolidated ticket offices at Norfolk, Va., during the war and afterward was transferred to Atlanta, Ga., as division passenger agent. For the last six years he has been with the office of W. H. Taylor, passenger traffic manager at Washington.

R. H. Rutherford was reelected president of the National Benefit Life Insurance Co. yesterday at the thirty-third annual meeting of stockholders which was held at the Whitelaw Hotel. He was also elected president of the board of directors, of which S. W. Rutherford is chairman.

Following the election of directors and officers, it was announced that major assets of the company are approximately $6,000,000. The total income during the past year was $4,315,719.53. Policy holders number 251,160.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The Baldwin Locomotive Works has received an order for eight passenger locomotives from the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad and an order for ten tenders from the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe. The St. Paul ordered approximately $750,000 and the Santa Fe order $180,000.

The gold report of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York for the week ended February 25 shows imports of $160,000, chiefly from Latin America. There were no exports and there was no change in gold earmarked for foreign account. In addition, the bank reported today receipt of $30,000 in gold from Dutch East Indies.

The board of directors of the Gillette Safety Razor Co. voted to defer action on the common dividend pending such time as the full benefits of the company's merger with Auto-Strop would become known.

The Inland Steel Co. plans to blow in an additional blast furnace next week, making three of the company's furnaces active. At present Inland is operating at between 55 and 56 per cent of capacity.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

MURDER COUNT LAID TO MAN IN STABBING

Paul Dement to Be Arraigned Monday in Death of Claude Hughes.

The death in Providence Hospital early yesterday morning of Claude Hughes, of Brandywine, Md., was followed by the placing of murder charges against Paul E. Dement, of the same town, his alleged assailant.

Dement is said to have stabbed Hughes with a penknife during a fight Monday. The dead man was 46 and his alleged assailant was 55. Both men were the fathers of five children.

Dement will be arraigned before Judge Herbert J. Mudd, in Hyattsville, Monday. The charges against Dement were made by Chief Deputy Tom Garrison, who has been a lifelong friend of the man. Dement claims he acted in self-defense.

Injuries received by State Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer when his horse fell with him last Sunday have been diagnosed as a fracture of the arm near the shoulder and three depressed fractures of lower vertebrae. The shoulder was dislocated.

The senator will have to remain in Emergency Hospital at least until Sunday, although it was at first thought that he would be able to leave after a few days. When the extent of the injuries was at first discovered it was proposed to put the back in a cast, but it has now been decided to substitute a leather splint. The injuries, while painful, are not regarded as serious.

Mrs. Albert S. Gunn, of Bladensburg, asked an absolute divorce from James M. Gunn, of the same town, in a suit filed yesterday in Prince Georges County Circuit Court. She charges desertion.

According to the woman's bill, filed through Attorney S. Marvin Peach, the couple was married in 1910 and she was deserted in 1925. They have one child, Elgin William, 13 years old, and the mother asks for his custody, as well as alimony. The man has given her no clothing or shelter for fourteen years, she claims.

Although the absence of Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer is delaying several important conferences, Prince Georges County legislation is being drafted, and several important bills are almost ready to be introduced.

A conference on the new police bill was scheduled for last Monday, but the injuries to the senator caused this important meeting to be postponed. This is probably the bill which will be acted on first when he returns. Both parties are pledged to the passage of this, and it is regarded as highly important that it be put through at this session.

A conference was held Tuesday night between officers of the County Firemen's Association and the delegates on the new fire bill, at which the delegates agreed to draft the legislation. It will provide that volunteer fire companies will receive financial aid from the county on the basis of their equipment rather than sharing equally. The sum given by the county will be increased from $5,000 annually to $7,500.

A bill introduced by Delegate William Keys provides that the town of Brentwood may pay its town officers $5 for each meeting they attend if the people of the town agree to the proposal at the next election. Delegate Oliver Metzerott has a measure in the house to allow the use of school buildings at night for any veterans's organization which may want them.

Bills for the incorporation of Cheverly and Seat Pleasant are understood to be almost ready for submission to the legislature, and a bill already has been introduced by Keys providing for the incorporation of Fairmont Heights. A bill to extend the Suburban Sanitary Commission's district to include District Heights, Bradbury Heights, Boulevard Heights and Suitland also may be introduced at this session.

At a public hearing held on the proposed changes in the Hyattsville road law, a few minor changes were made in response to wishes of citizens, and the bill is considered ready for introduction. The law will provide for a bond issue of not more than 8 per cent of the assessed value of the town for street improvements and will allow property owners ten years to pay for paving assessments. On the present assessed basis, the issue could amount to $360,000.

In present form, the amendments provide that owners of corner lots shall pay only half of the assessments for improvements on the side of the lot which has the greater frontage on the street. They shall pay all the assessment on the lesser side, however.

Three young boys of Edmonston have been held for the grand jury in connection with the alleged theft of $20,000 worth of property and the alleged destruction of $1,000 more in a vacant house in that town. The boys are Vernon Eaton and James Van Tassell, who are charged with the larceny, and Merle Mercilliott, charged with the destruction.

Miss Pearl Beane charges that her house, which was left vacant but furnished for two years, was looted of a valuable scientific library and heirlooms. What was not taken away, she says, was destroyed. An outfit for the manufacture of wine was found in the house when she returned. A carpenter who was called in the house to make repairs testified under oath that the house was the "most terrible wreck of anything I ever saw."

About 40 other boys are said by Miss Beane to be involved in the vandalism, and she is pursuing an investigation to determine their names. Van Tassell and Mercilliott were held in bond of $100 and Eaton for $500.

400,000 Aliens in U. S. Unlawfully, Club Told

Four hundred thousand aliens unlawfully are living in the United States and about 100,000 of this number are subject to deportation, the Cosmopolitan Club was told at its weekly meeting yesterday at the Carlton Hotel by Assistant Secretary of Labor W. W. Husband.

He said that activity by the Department of Labor resulted in the deportation of about 16,000 aliens last year and expressed the belief that about 20,000 aliens would be sent away this year. He said that many aliens, realizing that the United States is intent on ferreting out persons unlawfully here, have voluntarily departed in order that they might not forfeit their right to enter the country legally later.

Woman Faces Check Charges.

Rachel Strother, 29 years old, colored, of Eleventh street near N street northwest, was charged at police headquarters yesterday with forgery of two checks and passing four bad checks totaling $35.

YORKTOWN TO ERECT SEATS FOR SESQUI

Surrounding Area to Afford Places for 100,000 to See Battle Program.

Yorktown, Va., Feb. 25 (A.P.).—Arrangements for the erection of a grandstand to seat 5,000 visitors to the Yorktown sesquicentennial, seats for 10,000 additional persons, boxes for distinguished speakers, and bandstands have just been completed by A. R. Rogers, director of the celebration, it was announced here today.

The surrounding territory will afford over 100,000 an opportunity to witness the program.

In addition to looking after the seating arrangements, ground is now being laid out for the parking of thousands of automobiles, the parade, concession and pageant grounds. The 480 acres leased by the Yorktown Sesquicentennial Association is now being cleared by a force of workmen under the direction of Oliver G. Taylor, of the National Park Service, who is also on the grounds in connection with the Colonial National Monument. All underbrush is being cleared away, and a large portion of the area is being plowed preparatory to planting grass seed.

A committee of seven members of Congress is cooperating with Director Rogers in planning the program which was expected to be definitely decided upon within a week. It will include the presence of President Hoover, and the most notable international assemblage on Virginia soil, a colorful pageant, a sham battle, military and naval demonstrations, and numerous other features.

Every State in the Union is cooperating to make the celebration a success. The board of honorary trustees include the Chief Justice of the United States, members of the President's Cabinet, governors, members of Congress and leaders in many professions and vocations.

Present plans call for the expenditure of more than $800,000 in connection with the Nation-wide celebration.

Midshipmen Win Academy Prizes

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 26.—Officials of the Naval Academy today announced two prize awards that have been won by midshipmen of the class to be graduated in June. James Marshall Wood, Lynchburg, Va., will receive the $100 cash award offered by the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks for the best original essay on a theme relating to thrift and savings. Mr. Wood's topic, "Thrift as a Training for Life," was adjudged best of many others submitted by classmates in the competition. Mr. Wood was appointed to the Navy by Representative Clifton A. Woodrum, of the Sixth Virginia District.

An engraved wrist watch presented each year by the Military Order of Foreign Wars to the senior classman who stands highest in the class for the 4-year course in mathematics has been won by Thomas Woodson Rogers. Mr. Rogers' home is in Louisville, though he was appointed by Senator Robert M. La Follette, jr., of Wisconsin. The prizes will be presented during commencement exercises in June.

McNary to Speak At Martinsburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Feb. 26.—Senator Charles L. McNary, of Oregon, assistant Republican floor leader, will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet-gathering of the Martinsburg Fruit Exchange here March 5, it was announced today by officials. Senator Henry D. Hatfield, of West Virginia, will also be on the program. An attendance of 400 is expected.

Senator McNary is a former president of a fruit cooperative in Oregon. His knowledge of problems faced by the fruit men resulted in his being invited.

Worker Injured in Fall.

Erich O. Zabel, a workman employed at the new House Office Building, New Jersey avenue and B street southeast, dislocated his shoulder yesterday when he fell about 5 feet from a plank. He is the fourth workman injured at the building within a week. Zabel, who is 42 and lives at 916 Irving street northeast, was taken to Providence Hospital.

CHURCH CLUB GIVES ITS ANNUAL BANQUET

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

With more than 50 members attending, the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church of Ballston held its first annual banquet in the church last night.

The invocation was given by the Rev. L. L. Strock, pastor of the church, which was followed by an address of welcome by the president, Lawrence Douglas.

George W. Harris, of Harris & Ewing, of Washington, the principal speaker, gave an interesting lantern-slide lecture of his 30 years' experiences. A feature of his lecture was his trip to Paris with the late President Wilson at the Peace Conference. The program included a number of musical selections by Mrs. Myron Witters.

A feature of the banquet was that it was prepared and served entirely by the members of the club. The committee in charge of the arrangements were: Frank U. Sanderson, chairman; Lee Douglas, Richard Sanderson, R. I. Hixon, and Enos Taylor.

The officers are: Lawrence Douglas, president; Charles D. Boyer, vice president; Enos Taylor, treasurer, and Irwin M. Quigg, secretary.

Members of the executive committee are: The Rev. L. L. Strock, chairman; J. F. Hayes, E. Lee Douglas, and R. W. Montgomery.

In a comprehensive report covering a period from July 1, 1924, to June 30, 1930, Dr. P. M. Chichester, county health officer, states that the extension of and additional tappers to the county water system furnished from the Dalecarlia Water Works, in Washington, under the supervision of the War Department, has greatly added to the safety of the people of Arlington County so far as water-borne diseases are concerned.

During the year 1928 the report shows that Dr. Chichester urged the county to support a bond issue for a county-wide sewerage system, but it failed. He again in this report recommends that action be taken toward that end for the continued health and safety of the citizens.

Discussing the health conditions of the county, the report sets forth that during the year 1928-1929 there were no cases of typhoid fever in the county. For 1929-1930 there were nine cases, with but one death.

Outside of the nine cases mentioned, which was Arlington County's portion of a food outbreak of typhoid fever which occurred in the summer of 1929, there has not been a case of typhoid in the county since the fall of 1927.

The report shows that covering a period from July 1, 1928, to June 30, 1930, that there were a total of 141 cases. Dr. Chichester points out that every effort is being made to check the recurrence of this disease by preventive measures, but nothing has developed, nor will develop, in his opinion, until such time when a treatment such as we have for diptheria will be in practical use.

The county has been absolutely free of smallpox during the period which this report covers.

The campaign which has been waged in Arlington County against diptheria is rather outstanding, according to the report.

The campaign started back in 1926, at which time there were a large number of cases in the county causing much loss of time to residents as a result of the rigid quarantine. The report shows that during the year 1927-1928 there were but four cases; in 1928-1929 there were eleven cases, and during 1929-1930 there were twelve cases. Prior to 1927 there were, during the year 1926-1927, 57 cases.

The campaign was carried on principally through the county schools. This feature is brought out in the table which accompanied the report which shows that of the 23 cases covered in the report, 13 were preschool children, only seven being children attending the county schools.

The work being accomplished in the schools of the county is one of the outstanding features of the report. It shows that each year at the opening of school a thorough inspection is made, every child being examined and all defects, as far as is possible, corrected. In this connection the department maintains both preschool and school dental clinics under the supervision of Dr. C. R. Boyland. At these clinics, the children have their teeth examined and work is either done by the school dentist or a private dentist, which is optional with the parents. The preschool clinics, both for the teeth and general health, are featured by the department and parents are urged to take advantage of them.

The department maintains three health centers, one in Clarendon, another in Virginia Highlands and the third in Cherrydale. At these clinics Dr. Chichester is assisted by a corps of efficient school nurses who devote their entire time to county health work.

In addition to watching the health of the children, the department during the year makes special inspection of all stores in the county selling food and also the dairies in the county to see that everything is kept to a high standard.

Supporting the determined movement by the Fort Myer Heights Citizens Association, and having the backing of representatives from Clarendon, Lyon Village and Lyon Park Citizens Associations, to have the county officials take over Washington street as the most direct route, and apparently the county's only available approach to the new Arlington Memorial Bridge, it was announced last night that the Ballston Citizens Association is behind the movement. The special committee from the Ballston association to work with other committees on the project are Mrs. Catherine M. Rogers, Thomas J. Crack and Grover E. Payne.

Meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Ruby G. Simpson, yesterday, the executive committee of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County formulated plans for an extensive campaign to see that all women register and pay their poll taxes in order that they may participate in the November election, when county officials will be elected for a term of four years. It was stressed that all poll taxes must be paid on or before May 2.

The committee announces that the March meeting will be held Wednesday, March 25, in Jefferson District. A complete program for the meeting will be announced later.

The president announces the appointment of Mrs. Ruth B. Lowell as chairman of the membership committee.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Washington-Lee High School held its monthly meeting in the school auditorium last night with more than 200 patrons in attendance. Following a short business session a founder's day program was presented by the girls of the junior and senior classes.

Mrs. E. E. Carver, fifth vice president of the National Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations, the principal speaker, spoke at length on the value of the association both to the teacher and patron. She urged closer cooperation of the patrons with the teachers and all county school officials.

Miss Nancy Atlee, of Fort Madison, Iowa, vice president of the senior class at Arlington Hall, junior college for girls in Arlington County, was yesterday chosen by the student body as "May Queen" for the festival to be held early in May.

Mrs. Ruby G. Simpson, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the annual banquet of the Arlington County Civic Federation, announces a special meeting of the committee to be held tonight in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce in Clarendon.

The Womans Christian Temperance Union of Waverley Hills will hold a luncheon meeting today at 1 o'clock in the Mount Olivet Methodist Church. Dr. Marie Ready, of Washington, is announced as the principal speaker.

In Arthur's room was found a collection of seven pistols and revolvers, all of an old type except one, a fully loaded automatic.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

TAGGING THE MOTORIST.

RED plates, with the letters "R. D." to indicate reckless drivers, are proposed for the motor cars of persons convicted of careless driving, in a bill proposed in the New York State Legislature.

* * * *

* * * *

Tag all the reckless operators in the country these days with a red "R. D." sign, and the two or three careful drivers will be objects of public curiosity.

* * * *

But if we're going in for this tag business why stop at "R. D."? Let's go the limit and provide a whole set of labels to mark the vagaries of the American automobilist. Prinstance:

J. R.—Joy rider!
W. A. H. E.—Woman at wheel. Hold everything!
B. N. D.—Beware, new driver!
N. G. O. E. D. F. H—Necking going on. Every driver for himself!
P. M. T. W. S.—Preoccupied mind type. Watch step!
V. G. G. F. C.—Very goofy. Give full clearance!
W. O. S. T. N. R.—Woman on shopping tour. Not responsible!
P. D. A.—Probably drunk again.
I. R. H.—Incurable road hog.

* * * *

BETTER yet, why not a system of colors and code markings:

Pink plate with large white star—Give this car plenty of room after midnight all nights and after 8 p. m. Saturdays and Sundays. Owner is convivial soul and is a hound for week-end parties. Tries to fly car after seventh gin highball.

Pink plate with two white stars—Female of above species. Very dangerous to navigation. Better play safe and take another road.

White plate with Maltese cross—Owner of this car makes it a practice to lend it to irresponsible juvenile son several nights a week. What the boy will do with this car is anybody's guess.

White plate with onion in center—Run of the mill type of truck driver. Will hog road at all times. Pays no attention to signal to move over. Likes to crowd private cars off road, hold m[illegible] and leer at motorists who try to pass.

White [illegible] with spray of onions in center—Typical interurban passenger bus operator. Has Napoleonic complex. Thinks State highways a private right of way. Will never give the other fellow an even break. Don't toot him. It will do no good.

Triple X on red plate—Former taxicab driver now in private employ driving for private owner. If you care about your fenders give him the entire channel.

A THOUGHTFUL PAUSE.

"WHAT is your opinion of Mussolini?" Thomas Edison was asked on his eighty-fourth birthday, when reporters were subjecting him to the annual questionnaire. "Probably a good man for Italy," replied the wizard. You have to think that over for a while before deciding whether there is a likelihood of an apology from America or not.

Charlie Chaplin has refused a fabulous offer for a few appearances on the radio. Mr. Chaplin is said to doubt that he could be funny on the air. Where did he get the idea the radio people would expect anything like that?

Sir Hubert Wilkins, who is going to the North Pole in a submarine just to be different, or something, is to take an icebox with him. Possibly he wants it for a polar igloo on which he can hang a sign, "Twenty Degrees Cooler Inside."

P. K. L., who had to wait half an hour in front of one of those movie house box offices the other night, refers to it as an experience in the ill-bred line.

BLUE LAW BACKERS ALERT IN MARYLAND

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 6.—Opponents of legislation that would rule blue laws from the statute books of Maryland went before the Maryland General Assembly today when a hearing on the proposed measures was held before the Baltimore City delegation.

One of the bills has direct bearing upon city conditions and another would invoke home rule in the several counties as a means of settling such matters.

Dr. W. W. Davis, executive secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, who has been a strong supporter of the blue laws for many years, as well as all measures affecting temperance and good morals, led the delegation in opposition to the pending bills.

Dr. Davis told the Baltimore City delegation, before which the hearing was held, he believed the bills to be unconstitutional, and declared that the bill designed to lift bans in the city is a local measure and that it should be of general application if its supporters expected to be upheld in the courts.

Blue Law Measures.

The first of the blue law measures introduced was by Delegate Thomas Dalesandro, of Baltimore, and its application was to the city only, leaving the matter of Sunday amusements, games and sales to the city council for control.

Another introduced by Speaker Michel, of the House of Delegates, would be State-wide in effect, placing in the hands of the governing bodies of the various counties and municipalities the right to permit and regulate Sunday amusements and sales.

A third bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Milton Altfeld, of Baltimore, would permit the sale of delicatessen products on Sunday through inclusion of the word delicatessen in the list of articles whose sale on the Sabbath is now legal.

The Baltimore City Council has approved a resolution calling for home rule on Sunday sales and amusements.

Short Senate Session.

Bills to provide for the levying of taxes uniformly for the calendar year and to prevent differing valuations as a basis for town and city or State taxes were introduced in a short Senate session, today, which also saw initiated a measure granting prosecutors authority to hold private hearings to adjudicate wife-desertion cases.

A bill by Senator Cobleitz (Democrat), Frederick, to permit creation of certain charitable funds otherwise invalid and a proposal by Senator Hilton (Democrat), Montgomery, asking that the period of notice allowed owners for removal of obstructions from the public highways be reduced from two months to ten days, were the only other State-wide measures introduced.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Baltimore's pants burglar, sought by police serving extra duty for several weeks, made a door-to-door canvass last night. He got into four houses and two pairs of pants. His net receipts were $46 in cash and several diamond rings.

GRADING PLAN URGED TO ASSIST BUSINESS

Service to Lamb Producers in Virginia Is Explained by Official.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—K. A. Keithly, of the Virginia Division of Markets, today urged lamb producers, buyers and dealers in the State to use the Virginia lamb grading service, which he said has been organized to facilitate the transaction of business through a general knowledge of the standard grades for lambs.

Among the objectives of the service, Mr. Keithly mentioned:

Encouraging production of better quality lambs.

Giving the farmers a more definite basis for grading lambs and demonstrating that docking and castrating is profitable.

Enabling farmers to become familiar with the grades and weights that are more in demand.

Bringing about a closer cooperation and better understanding between producers, packers, buyers, order buyers and commission men.

Enabling buyers and shippers to secure more uniform loadings of lambs as a result of more careful and intelligent grading.

Giving the buyers and farmers the benefit of impartial judgment of an experienced live stock man who carefully inspects the lambs without binding or obligating either party to accept the findings of the official grader.

Making available to farmers definite and practical information on current prices by grades, based upon the actual sales of lambs, when possible.

DISEASE IS COSTLY TO RURAL VIRGINIA

$15,000,000 Reported Yearly Loss From Preventable Sicknesses.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Preventable diseases incur an economic loss to rural Virginia of not less than $15,000,000 annually, a survey of rural health in Virginia, conducted by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce on public health, showed today.

The committee claimed that the fact that the population of Virginia is "predominantly rural emphasizes the importance of any attack upon the problems of public health when undertaken primarily from the standpoint of rural health," and urged that "it is obvious that such a study concerns the largest group of people in the State and that the health conditions in rural Virginia have a most important effect upon State mortality and morbidity."

The report covered the entire field of rural public health in Virginia. It was written by William H. Wandel, of Charlottesville. The summary of conclusions follows:

"Knowledge of true health conditions in Virginia is hampered by negligence of physicians in reporting cases of sickness and in the misleading effect of reporting the place of deaths and births literally instead of reporting origin of cause of death, or, for records of birth, residence.

Rural Death Rate Lower.

"While the rural total death rate in Virginia is lower than the urban rate, the rates on communicable and preventable diseases are uniformly higher in the country than in the city. The rate of improvement through the State has been lower in the rural than in the urban sections.

"Only half of the doctors, 15 per cent of the registered nurses and less than 15 per cent of the hospital beds available for use in Virginia are to be found outside the cities. Throughout the counties there is a marked maldistribution of these health agencies and many sections are obviously in need.

"To combat the dearth of health agencies in the counties of Virginia it is particularly necessary to direct the attention of young doctors to the advantages of rural service and to induce the country dwellers to utilize the hospital facilities which they now have.

"The county boards of health as now constituted in Virginia are not capable of carrying out the public health activities in the local governmental units. This is the reason that the composition of the local body is neither adapted to the comprehensive demands made in the name of public health nor does it have the financial support necessary to fulfill those demands.

Full Time Units Urged.

"For proper and adequate public health service in the counties of Virginia nothing less than full-time units are necessary.

"A full-time county unit to meet the needs of Virginia requires an annual budget of $10,000. For a representative area this would mean a per capita expenditure of 40 cents.

"Public health service must be fitted to the community or area which it serves and it must be permanent. This means unified control and coordinated units serving geographical rather than strictly political divisions. The grouping of two or more counties in Virginia has already been shown feasible and desirable.

"For permanence and efficiency there must be stability in management and in financial support. The best guarantee of these is in the State Department of Health. With its present appropriation increased $500,000 or approximately doubled, it could retrieve the rural Virginia many times that amount now being lost in tangible money values and could assure to the people increased happiness, contentment and efficiency."

The report went into all phases of the summary in detail. One of the sections dealt with the economic loss to Virginia through the prevalence of preventable and communicable disease in rural Virginia. It was estimated from reliable source material the economic loss through deaths caused by preventable diseases amounts to approximately $15,000,000 a year.

"Hebrew Renaissance" Described by Lecturer

A lecture in which the story of the Hebrew people was told in realistic terms, with accounts of its gains and losses, was given last night at the Jewish Community Center by Prof. Shalom Spiegel, noted author and lecturer, the title of the lecture being "The Story of the Hebrew Renaissance."

Dr. Spiegel, who has been attached to the Technical Institute of Haifa, Palestine, is now professor of Hebrew literature at the Jewish Institute of Religion, New York City, and is one of the outstanding person
